Notwithstanding the exceedingly unfavorable weather conditions with the worst blizzard of the winter sweeping down upon the city from the northwest, with such surprising rapidity and force as not to give sufficient notice to have the Auditorium heated, the Southeastern Land show opened last night to a good crowd of between three and four thousand spectators.

The management feels assured of the success of the enterprise. A comfortably-heated building for today is promised and the exhibits are of such a class as to repay all those who desire to inspect them. While the crowd was not near as large at the opening night as it would have been if weather conditions had been favorable, everyone who went was manifestly interested in the exhibits and a general word of approval was elicited by their unusual good quality.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather, Governor Harris, who was to deliver the opening address and introduce the speaker of the evening, John M. Parker, of New Orleans, was not able to be present and his place was taken by J. K. Orr. In a few well-chosen remarks, he presented the "first citizen of Louisiana," who, he said, really needed no introduction to Georgians as his activity along moral and progressive lines, both in his state and in the larger field of the nation, had made him already well-known to any southern audience.

Mr. Parker Speaks.

Mr. Parker addressed himself particularly to the needs of the farmers and the imperative necessity confronting those of the southeastern section to adapt themselves to boll weevil conditions and escape thereby the worst effects of that insect's ravages, which had brought temporary ruin to the farms further west. He wanted Georgians to profit by the bitter experience of Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas, he said. The substance of Mr. Parker's timely advice was summed up in his conclusion, which follows:

"Preach to every farmer of high and low degree, the importance of getting out of debt and staying out of debt. Get on a cash basis and stay there. Your cotton, your corn, your cattle, your hogs will then be your own, to sell when you get values, to hold when you do not. With the certainty in the next few years that the boll weevil will thoroughly infest the entire cotton area on his march to the east, many farmers are going to feel the shoe pinch hard when they ask in vain for credit, and the prudent man is going to thoughtfully look ahead and prepare for the contest which seems certain to come. Work hard, practice rigid economy, get out of debt, get on a cash basis and stay there. Reduce your cotton acreage to what you can thoroughly cultivate, and see that it is thoroughly cultivated. Fertilize your land thoroughly and carefully, save up all your stable manure, which is a valuable fertilizer. Don't wear your land out, but rotate your crops and improve it.

"Plant and cultivate your corn thoroughly, and when ready to lay-by sow broadcast a bushel and a half of peas to the acre, and then run a sweep through the middles to cover. The pea hay will be excellent stock feed, and the roots most fertile for the soil. Raise ample corn to furnish bread for the family and food for your horses, mules, hogs and chickens. Raise plenty of poultry, chickens, turkeys and guineas. They will destroy thousands

Snow Thursday Night.

Around corners with a terrible sound, as of wolves in a desolate forest, and worse, the wind whistled about Atlanta Thursday night and told the people in sounds, as well as impressed them with a freezing touch, that a cold wave was upon them. During a short period in the earlier part of the night there were a few flurries of snow. Thursday was some night when it came to atmospheric conditions.

COLDEST WEATHER OF THE YEAR TODAY

Mercury Will Drop to Ten Degrees Above Zero Friday—Bright, Clear Day Is Promised—Cold Wave Extends to All Sections of the Country.

Ten degrees above the zero mark is the official forecast for the weather Friday. And along with this forecast comes the advice that water should be cut off to prevent pipes bursting.

"The cold wave will sweep over the southeastern districts tonight," states the official report issued Thursday. "At Atlanta a temperature of about ten degrees above zero is indicated for Friday morning. Water pipes should be turned off without fail."

If the prediction of the weather man holds true to form, Friday will be the coldest day of the present winter.

During the next twenty-four hours the mercury is expected to drop from 35 to 40 degrees from that of 56 degrees Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. The coldest weather since 1899, when the mercury dropped to below zero, was in January, 1912, when the mercury registered 6 degrees above.

The weather report states further that the cloudiness of the last few days will disappear Friday morning and that the ensuing days while very cold will be bright and fair. By Saturday morning the mercury is expected to drop even further.

The cold wave is general over the entire country. It began in the northwest early in the week and moved rapidly toward the east and south. A drop of 50 degrees in twenty-four hours has been reported from several places. Memphis recorded a 42-degree drop Thursday, Nashville 45 and Louisville 48.

Shipments to reach their destinations within twenty-four to thirty-six hours should be protected to withstand severe temperatures, ranging from 20 degrees north of North Carolina to zero in the Ohio valley, central Mississippi valley, 10 degrees west of the lower Mississippi valley and 10 to 20 degrees in the cotton belt.

HUGE COTTON ORDER MADE BY BRITAIN

Savannah Firm Is Ordered to Ship 20,000 Bales Regardless of Threats of U-Boats.

Savannah, Ga., February 1.—(Special.)—Orders for more than 20,000 bales of cotton, totalling more than $2,000,000, have been placed with Savannah firms for shipment to England and will be sent by one shipping firm on three steamers, two of which are due in port shortly, it was learned today.

The orders are consigned not to private concerns in England, but to the government of Great Britain, and will be sent from here to Liverpool. For what purpose it will be used cannot be learned, although it is understood that it will not be for the manufacture of gun cotton.

Officials of the steamship company, while admitting the gravity of the German situation, stated that it would not be permitted to interfere with the shipment of the cotton unless instructions to the contrary were received from the admiralty.

The three vessels are British, and all British ships are now moving under instructions from the admiralty or else are subject to these orders.

Senator Swanson Better.

Washington, February 1.—Some improvement in the condition of Senator Swanson, of Virginia, who has been confined with an acute attack of quinsy for several days, was reported by two attending physicians today. Exposure after an attack of grippe caused a throat abscess and the senator is not expected to be able to attend the senate for several days.

VESSELS TO SAIL UNLESS ORDERED HELD BY LANSING

Ship Owners Ask Washington for Definite Ruling as to Policy of Government in Matter.

MARINE MEN OBJECT TO FALMOUTH AS PORT

Movement of Allied Shipping Will Be Controlled by Admiralty — No Definite Orders Received Yet.

New York, February 1.—A definite ruling and instructions to future movements of the American line steamships was asked of the state department today by P. A. S. Franklin, president of the International Mercantile Marine. The steamship St. Louis is booked to sail for Liverpool Saturday and Mr. Franklin said that unless instructed to the contrary by Washington the St. Louis would sail on schedule.

The telegram sent by President Franklin to Secretary Lansing advised the state department that the St. Louis is an American ship, owned by American citizens, insured by the United States war risk bureau, carries as passengers American citizens and as cargo such merchandise as is in compliance with the government war risk bureau's regulations with reference to contraband.

The telegram also advised that the liner Philadelphia, operated under the same conditions, now was about 1,200 miles from Liverpool on her way from New York; that the line steamship Finland was due to leave Liverpool for New York February 3 or 4, and the steamship Kroonland had sailed yesterday from Liverpool for New York.

Passengers on Ships.

The Philadelphia, Finland and Kroonland carry passengers. On the Philadelphia there are 35 American citizens and 148 aliens; on the Finland, 46 Americans and 114 aliens. Cable advices placed the number of passengers on the Kroonland at 191, but gave no information as to their nationality.

Obection to the designation by Germany of Falmouth as the British port of destination for the American ships also was registered with Secretary Lansing by Mr. Franklin. He said Falmouth was without adequate terminal facilities or means of obtaining coal, and termed it "absolutely impractical."

"All ships of the American line are plainly marked as to nationality and name in large letters on both sides of the hull," Mr. Franklin said. "In addition, an American flag is painted on both sides, and at night a special light is always burning to display the American flag flying astern.

"No answer has as yet been received to my telegram to Mr. Lansing," Mr. Franklin continued, "and we can reach no conclusions as to future action until we get a reply. Pending receipt of advices, however, we shall continue preparations to send the St. Louis away Saturday. No instructions have been sent to the other ships at sea."

Destroyers Very Active.

Customs officials declined to state whether the port would be closed after dark from now on. A few vessels, after inspection, were allowed to proceed tonight.

Collector Malone said: "I will not discuss neutrality matters." It was learned unofficially, however, that the rule put into effect last night would be continued. A torpedo boat destroyer near the Narrows and another at the entrance of Long Island sound, displayed unusual activity when darkness fell, searchlights on both vessels constantly sweeping the waters over which a ship could pass. Representatives of allied shipping firms said no definite instructions had been received as to future movements of their vessels. Men connected with some of the largest companies, however, said that they would be controlled by British admiralty orders.

The action early today of local representatives of the Scandivanian-American line in holding up the scheduled sailing of the Hellig Olav was approved by a cablegram from Copenhagen.

Only a few ships left port today, mainly coasting steamers and vessels for South and Central America. An exception was the Atlantic transport liner Philadelphian, which sailed for European ports.

Insurance Rates Advance.

As anticipated by brokers, marine insurance rates and war risks advanced sharply today. A leading American firm of underwriters announced quotations showing an advance of approximately 75 per cent over rates made earlier in the week.

A special rate of 3 per cent, war risk only, was quoted to apply to the "one American ship each week to Falmouth," as conditioned in the German note.

At the piers of the North German Lloyd, Hamburg-America nand Austrian lines, where a large number of ships are laid up, no unusual activity was noticed. Police are co-operating with customs guards to preserve neu-

All Loyal Americans Will Back Up Wilson, Declares C. E. Hughes

New York, February 1.—Charles Evans Hughes, who was guest of honor at the annual dinner of the New York alumni of Brown university here tonight, declared every loyal American would stand behind the administration "in this solemn hour without a partisan thought." His declaration brought the diners to their feet singing "The Star Spangled Banner."

"We are all Americans tonight, standing behind our president, on whom this great responsibility rests," said Mr. Hughes. "It is not a time to embarrass in any degree with private utterances those charged with this responsibility. They have the facts; they have the duty to perform. They have the sincere, loyal co-operation of every true American. The exigency of no nation can fix the limits of American rights."

IMMIGRATION BILL PASSED OVER VETO

Measure Which President Disapproved Goes Through the House by Vote of 286 to 106.

Washington, February 1.—President Wilson's veto of the immigration bill because of its literacy test feature was overridden in the house tonight, by a vote of 286 to 106. Party lines were ignored, republicans and democrats being almost equally divided on either side.

Tomorrow the action of the house will be reported to the senate, where the bill passed originally by 64 to 7. An effort to override the veto will be made there without delay and advocates of the measure say it is certain to be successful.

For twenty years there has been a fight to establish a literacy test as a restriction upon immigration.

Four times such a provision has run the gauntlet of congress and has been vetoed at the white house. President Cleveland first disapproved a bill on this ground and congress sustained his action. President Taft was the next to reject it. On that occasion the senate voted to override the veto, but the house failed to give the necessary two-thirds majority by nine votes. In 1915 President Wilson refused to permit a bill to become law with the literacy test incorporated. The house lacked only four votes to override his action then and the senate did not consider the veto message.

Tonight the house had 25 votes more than the necessary two-thirds majority. Republican Leader Mann and Democratic Leader Kitchin voted together against the president. The vote follows:

ALLIES ARE BLAMED FOR GERMAN POLICY IN NEW DOCUMENT

Claiming Entente Is Violating Law, Germany Claims Right to Take Back Pledges to United States.

NOTE PREPARED BEFORE WILSON MADE ADDRESS

Teutons Express Belief That Unrestricted Submarine Warfare Will Speedily Put End to Great War.

Washington, February 1.—A second memorandum delivered yesterday with the German note was made public late today by the state department. It differs in some respects from the substance of the note itself. The understanding is that it was prepared at the German embassy on instructions from Berlin prior to President Wilson's peace address to the senate and withheld then on account of the address. When Count von Bernstorff received the note and memorandum yesterday from Berlin he decided to deliver with them the original document prepared by him.

The memorandum follows:

"After bluntly refusing Germany's peace offer, the entente powers stated in their note addressed to the American government that they are determined to continue the war in order to deprive Germany of German provinces in the west and east, to destroy Austria-Hungary and to annihilate Turkey. In waging war with such aims, the entente allies are violating all rules of international law, as they prevent the legitimate trade of neutrals with the central powers and of the neutrals among themselves. Germany has, so far, not made unrestricted use of the weapon which she possesses in her submarines.

Germany's Hand Forced.

"Since the entente powers, however, have made it impossible to come to an understanding based upon equality of rights of all nations, as proposed by the central powers and have instead declared only such a peace to be possible which shall be dictated by the entente allies and shall result in the destruction and humiliation of the central powers, Germany is unable further to forego the full use of her submarines.

"The imperial government, therefore, does not doubt that the government of the United States will understand the situation thus forced upon Germany by the entente allies' brutal methods of war and by their determination to destroy the central powers, and that the government of the United States will further realize that the now openly disclosed intention of the entente allies gives back to Germany the freedom of action which she reserved in her note addressed to the government of the United States on May 4, 1916.

"Under these circumstances Germany will meet the illegal measures of her enemies by forcibly preventing after February 1, 1917, in a zone around Great Britain, France, Italy and in the eastern Mediterranean all navigation, that of neutrals included, from and to England and from and to France, etc., etc. All ships met within that zone will be sunk.

Hope for Speedy Peace.

"The imperial government is confident that this measure will resuk in a speedy termination of the war and in the restoration of peace which the government of the United States has so much at heart. Like the government of the United States, Germany and her allies had hoped to reach this goal by negotiations. Now that the war, through the fault of Germany's enemies, has to be continued, the imperial government feels sure that the government of the United States will understand the necessity of adopting such measures as are destined to bring about a speedy end of the horrible and useless bloodshed. The imperial government hopes all the more for such an understanding of her position as the neutrals have under the pressure of the entente powers suffered great losses, being forced by them either to give up their entire trade or to limit it according to conditions arbitrarily determined by Germany's enemies in violation of international law."

CRUISER HUNTING RAIDER ATTACKED BY SUBMARINE

Buenos Aires, February 1.—The British cruiser Amethyst, one of the squadron searching for German raiders in the south Atlantic, was attacked by a submarine, according to the Pernambuco newspaper, Jornal Pequeno, but repelled the attack. The steamer then touched at Pernambuco to repair, although the extent of the damage is not exactly known.

The newspaper declares that the British consul admitted the attack on the Amethyst, although the ship bore no evidence of having been in an engagement.

Decision of President Being Closely Guarded By Few in His Confidence

Situation Is Grave, Ex-Premier Admits

London, February 1.—Former Premier Asquith, speaking to his constituents today at Ladybank, said in reference to the German submarine campaign, that "it is impossible to dispute the gravity of the situation." He added:

"The navy has been supplemented by other measures such as the arming of merchantmen, acceleration of new tonnage and allocation of the tonnage recourses of the allies." He said these were being used with the special object of countering the German campaign.

ALL EUROPE AWAITS WASHINGTON MOVE

Neutral Continental Nations Waiting for Lead of United States Before Framing Their Replies to Teutons.

London, February 1.—The eyes of Great Britain and all Europe are today focused on Washington. Not only the policy of the United States, but of the neutral European nations also is being largely determined in Washington. From Spain, Holland and the Scandinavian countries messages to the English papers say they are waiting for the lead which the United States will give before framing their replies to the German announcement of unfettered maritime war against all cargo vessels approaching her enemies' coasts.

British officials decline to speak for publication on the crisis, lest any utterances might be construed in the United States as officious attempts to influence the American policy and intrude upon the problem which they recognize as purely one between the neutral nations and the central powers.

Two Theories Considered.

Two theories are current here and are being warmly discussed. One is that the central powers expect to starve out Great Britain and her allies by unrestricted sea warfare and that they consider they have more to gain by trying to shut off American supplies of munitions and food than by continuing friendly relations. The second is that the central dynasties consider that at the present moment they may best serve their own interests with their peoples by bringing upon themselves the hostility of the neutral nations and saying that they cannot fight the whole world.

At no previous stage of the war since the sinking of the Lusitania has the development of America's policy been so intently watched, so curiously awaited. Every news message from the United States, however brief, however indefinitely worded, is devoured by the public and debated as to its significance and bearing, in the newspaper office and on the streets.

All Pledges Withdrawn.

Commenting on the newly-announced German naval policy the Westminster Gazette today considers that under that policy all concessions hitherto made by the central powers to President Wilson have been withdrawn.

"There could scarcely be a more direct challenge," continues the newspaper. "The note of the Imperial government assures the United States that Germany's desires in the highest sense to serve humanity and it proposes this method as the first installment to this end. President Wilson, as his notes on the Lusitania question showed us, has other ideas of serving humanity."

The Evening Standard says:

"It will be a pure waste of time to argue the matter or speculate as to what the president of the United States may say or do."

The Pall Mall Gazette says that "civilization only repeats in sterner tones the answer which it had given the Kaiser before. We shall so tame the beast that the world may never fear him again."

COMMENT ON NOTE BY FRENCH PRESS.

Paris, February 1.—The notification that Germany and Austria would torpedoe neutral merchant ships without notice, beginning at 6 o'clock tonight, reached Paris too late for publication except in last editions of the morning newspapers.

The announcement caused a sensation.

L'Information, in its midday edition today, says:

"It is a supreme maneuver. Will President Wilson give way before this challenge? It may be permitted us to say with all the deference we have always shown toward him, that he can scarcely find an exit from the blind alley into which the malignity of our enemies has placed him except by either humiliation or a rupture, with its consequences."

High Official Declares No Communciation Has Been Sent Berlin or Bernstorff, But Other Officials Believe Note Is Already on Way.

GERMAN AMBASSADOR OUTWARDLY EXPECTS BREAK IN RELATIONS

Silence as to the President's Course May Be Due to Preparation for Eventualities Which Would Follow the Severance of Relations With Teutons.

Washington, February 1.—Whatever course of action President Wilson has chosen to meet Germany's declaration of unrestricted submarine warfare is known only to three or four members of his official family. Neither the cabinet as a whole nor the foreign affairs committees of congress have been taken into his confidence.

One high official close to the president declared tonight that no communication had been sent to Berlin or to Count von Bernstorff, who outwardly was expecting a severance of diplomatic relations.

There was every indication in official quarters that a note had been determined upon, but the indications as to whether it actually had been dispatched were about evenly divided, with a few high officials as authority that it had not, and some others who gave intimations of a belief that it had.

From under the curtain of official silence, drawn closely over every move today, came various indications taken everywhere as index fingers pointing toward the probable course of the United States.

It was undisputed that the government would not permit Germany's announcement to stand without challenge, but whether President Wilson's answer will be a solemn warning of a break in diplomatic relations if Germany's campaign of ruthlessness is carried into execution, or actually a severance of relations without waiting, remained undisclosed.

LANSING REFUSES TO DISCUSS SUBJECT.

White house officials and Secretary Lansing followed the same course they have adopted on previous occasions when a communication had been dispatched to Berlin, and they are awaiting its receipt in the German capital before making any announcement in this country. It was a course of absolute silence; of flat refusal to disclose any information whatever; to discuss the subject in any way, or to answer any inquiries upon it.

All the day's developments followed this same course which has become familiar to close observers of the procedure of the administration when it is dealing with a foreign crisis.

Secretary Lansing began by denying himself to all callers. Notwithstanding that, it was the regular day for receiving representatives of foreign governments at the state department, he declined to receive such persons as the British and Japanese ambassadors, and they were turned over to subordinate officials.

LANSING WORKS ON DOCUMENT.

It became known then that Mr. Lansing was engaged at work "on something for the president."

Shortly before noon, the secretary went to the white house, taking with him some document, and instead of going to the executive offices went to the mansion itself, where he and the president conferred undisturbed for more than an hour.

When he left the president, Mr. Lansing refused absolutely to discuss the situation or answer any inquiries. Then later in the day when he met the newspaper correspondents, he said:

"Gentlemen, I have nothing to tell you, neither will I answer any questions."

He modified his latter statement only to say he had no communication throughout the day with the German ambassador, adding that there was no prospect of any announcement during the night.

Among all officials capable of knowing the probable course of the president, the only point of doubt seemed to be whether a communication to Germany would carry only a warning, or whether it would consider Germany's declaration sufficient in itself for action. All seemed to take it for granted that a decision had quickly been determined upon.

It was pointed out that one reason for withholding knowledge of the president's course is the necessity of completing certain arrangements, many of a physical character, to prepare the country for eventualities which would be expected to follow a diplomatic break. The safeguarding of American ports, safety of Americans in Germany, the presence of German ships in American harbors and many other considerations are among them.

EXPECTED BREAK WOULD BE COMPLETE.

The last correspondence with Germany, which demanded the total abandonment of such submarine warfare as the central powers are about to resume, declared that the United States would sever diplomatic relations "altogether." That is interpreted as leaving no opportunity for half-way measures; it means the withdrawal of Ambassador Gerard and the whole embassy staff from Berlin, and the closing of the German embassy here. Inasmuch as any action by the United States would be directed against Germany as a nation and not against her ambassador as an individual, it was thought unlikely that a severance would be announced by the delivery of passports to Count von Bernstorff, but would be preceded by formal notification to Berlin of the American government's decision. The delivery of passports to the ambassador would be left as a formality of the future.

Germany's view, as expressed here, is that neutrals should not object to the German blockade inasmuch as they have been unable to raise the British blockade. American ships, venturing into the barred zones, it frankly was said, would be in danger of being sunk, but it was declared that Germany and her allies would give up the campaign of ruthlessness should neutrals acting together cause Great Britain to raise her blockade if there should be a peace conference.

Austria and Turkey are expected to make similar war zone declarations. The first notification that Austria has joined Germany was in news dispatches from Paris. No official announcement had reached here tonight.

The only announcement the German ambassador made today was to deny a published report that he had told a friend that he expected to receive his passports within 48 hours. There was no denying, however, that Count von Bernstorff fully expected the action of the United States to be swift and decisive. It became known that several times during the last week he has attempted to discourage Americans from sailing for Europe. He has declined to write letters of introduction for friends and on other pretexts, without disclosing his knowledge of what was about to happen, has done his best to discourage them from going to Europe.

WOULD BE INFORMED IN CASE OF BREAK.

Chairman Stone of the senate foreign relations committee, who has been in St. Louis, telegraphed to the white house that he was hurrying back and would arrive at 1 p. m. tomorrow. He probably will see the president during the afternoon.

On a previous occasion the president told members of the committee that before breaking relations with any country he would inform them. Senator Hitchcock, ranking democratic member, was at the white house during the day, but was given no information.

The usual cabinet meeting will be held tomorrow afternoon, when for the first time all the members may know definitely of the president's attitude. Colonel House spent the day here, but left tonight for New York. In addition to a long talk with the president he saw Secretary Lansing, Counsellor Polk of the state department, Secretary McAdoo and Postmaster General Burleson.

It was stated that the president had made no arrangements for going before congress, but it was considered possible that he might decide to adopt this step at any time.

PUBLIC OPINION CAREFULLY CONSIDERED.

Public opinion in this country is being carefully considered, not so much as a decisive force, but as indicating the limit of the first step to be taken. The officials realize that a severe mental wrench must be experienced to turn public thought from hopes of peace to the eventualities of Germany's action.

There apparently is no division in official opinion that Germany's announcement justifies this country in severing diplomatic relations, or taking belligerent steps to safeguard American rights. The complete repudiation of all Germany's pledges in the Sussex case is viewed as an open threat made in full consideration and in utter disregard of all that may follow. Previous cases merely have involved isolated instances for which apology or reparation could be offered, or a new announcement which could be modified without admission of defeat. The present is regarded as representing a mature policy, made in full consideration that it will cost the friendship, if not the neutrality of the United States, and probably other neutrals.

Preparations are now known to have been under way in Germany for months and the information that had been allowed to pass the censorship to have been entirely misleading. Bethmann-Hollweg's speech today is interpreted as disproving statements allowed to come to this country that the chancellor was opposed to unrestricted submarine operations. The fact stands out that official Germany has held off from such a policy, not because of international law or consideration for the United States, but because she did not feel it expedient at an earlier time.

BREAK ANNOUNCED AS INEVITABLE.

After the conference between President Wilson and Secretary Lansing, the opinion became generally prevalent in official quarters that a break in diplomatic relations with Germany seemed inevitable, although it was thought probable that an ultimatum or warning to the Berlin government might precede this action. The view was taken widely in official quarters that the United States could not let the situation stand unchallenged.

Passports for Count von Bernstorff, orders of recall for Ambassador Gerard, solemn warnings to Berlin that breach of her pledges means severance of diplomatic relations, or tense waiting for an overt act which would sweep aside diplomacy and bring the American government to the point of action are among the contingencies which fill the situation.

WILSON CONFERS WITH COLONEL HOUSE.

President Wilson conferred with Colonel E. M. House, his friend and adviser, who was hurriedly summoned from New York. Early today he had not called any meeting of the cabinet nor any conference with the foreign affairs committees of congress, who have been assured of being taken into the president's confidence before diplomatic relations are broken off.

Germany's sudden declaration of her intention without warning to destroy all shipping over a wide area comes as the climax to a long series of aggravated cases in which the United States has gathered evidence that her pledges to respect international law at sea have been broken.

A score of American lives have been lost since the slate was wiped by Germany's promises in the Sussex case. But in each instance there were conflicting influences, and in each case came repeated assurances from the German embassy here that nothing would be permitted to disturb relations with the United States.

After each of the new sinkings came informal assurances that Germany was ready to make amends if her submarine commanders had violated orders.

An evidence of the efforts of the German embassy here to keep relations tranquil is found in a comparison of the note handed to Secretary Lansing by Count von Bernstorff with the one handed to Ambassador Gerard.

BERLIN NOTE IN BOLD TERMS.

The note published in Berlin announces in bold terms the determination of Germany to wield every weapon at her command without quarter, while the note presented to the American state department says the same thing in softened language.

The German embassy has for months been building up an atmosphere of hopefulness and at one time it was said that Von Tirpitz, who originated the campaign of ruthlessness, actually had been forced from his high position by influences brought to bear by the German ambassador here in an effort to preserve good relations with the United States. Now it is frankly disclosed that Von Tirpitz was deposed because he did not carry his campaign of ruthlessness far enough, that he was unprepared with an insufficient number of undersea ships to make this force effective, and was punished for his short-sightedness.

Now, the officials who speak for Germany in this country, unhesitatingly announce the plan to starve out England with a fleet of submarines which they estimate between 300 and 500, and they think they can cut off the food supply of the British Isles completely within sixty days.

American officials are not convinced that Germany's announcement of a campaign of ruthlessness reveals the entire situation. There have been intimations of dissension between the entente allies, all of which, however, have been officially denied, and there are other circumstances which have come into possession of the American government, but are not being disclosed which give ground for the possibility that the new submarine blockade may be only the forerunner of something else equally startling. Neither is there any assurance that the new warfare will be confined to changes on the seas.

The air of confidence which was openly expressed at the German embassy was generally interpreted as an indication that the Berlin government was very sure of the success of its plans.

President Wilson interrupted his consideration of the submarine situation this afternoon long enough to discuss peace with Dr. Paul Ritter, the Swiss minister, a committee from the Women's Peace league and Louis P. Lochner, of Chicago, an adviser of Henry Ford.

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS LAND SHOW OPENING

Kill Razor-backs.

"Kill your razor-backs and buy a good sow. She should be bred the last of November, and will bring you a nice litter of pigs in 112 days, so you can be on the watch for them. Take care of them while young, and, in addition to selling off some good pigs at good prices, you insure yourself of fresh pork, spare ribs, chine bones, sausages and lard for the winter. Make a good garden and buy enough mesh wire to keep the chickens out. This will give you fresh vegetables all summer, and Irish and sweet potatoes, pumpkins and turnips for your winter use. What you cannot eat and cannot sell, give to your hogs and cattle, which will enjoy them and thrive on them. When your crops are laid by, build good sheds for your mules, cattle, hogs, poultry and to cover your wagons. Bring in and keep under shelter every agricultural implement you have."

At the conclusion of Mr. Parker's address which was most attentively listened to, although delivered under great difficulties both to the speaker and the audience, Charles J. Haden, who presided, presented Mayor Asa G. Candler, whom he characterized as the "first citizen of Atlanta and Georgia," to deliver a welcome from the city to the visitors.

This Mr. Candler did in a few apt and appropriate anecdotes, telling his hearers that, both for their own sakes and his own, he would not keep them long. If the outward appearance seemed somewhat chilly they would find the Atlanta heart warm, he declared, and though the streets were in need of repair in places, if they would come back a year or two later, they would find that we were engaged in the business of turning our fields into streets and so had neglected some of the older thoroughfares downtown.

Practically all the exhibits of the show are in place and are most attractive in appearance and interesting in content. The variety of exhibits is really remarkable. From the tropical bower which greets the visitor as he enters the Auditorium with its forty-foot bamboo entrance posts and its decorations of huge cocoanut leaves, some of which are thirty feet long, from the yard of Thomas A. Edison's winter home in Florida, to the great stage at the far end of the building with its motion picture screen in place for the special pictures which will be a feature of the entire show, the visitor is kept busy trying to keep up with everything and take in all he sees.

Government Exhibit.

While there are a great many strictly agricultural exhibits there are so many other kinds that every type of visitor finds something of special interest to him. The exhibit made by the United States government is perhaps the greatest event of the show. This is the first time the government has made an exhibit of this sort in the south in twenty-one years. It shows in detail the packing house industry from the time the hogs and cattle enter the slaughter house to the time the public purchases the meat in the retail butcher shops. It also shows the poultry business in all its phases. This exhibit is in Taft hall and occupies almost this entire space. It is in charge of two expert government exposition men, Mr. Abel and Mr. Ormsby, who have been doing this kind of work for a number of years and who are thoroughly posted on their subjects.

The marble exhibit is also a notable feature of the show. The state of Georgia has two divisions to its exhibit, the geological specimens and those from the department of entomology. The state and city federation of women's clubs have attractive displays of the work done in their extention departments by the Canning Club girls and the Needle Work guilds. They also have a most attractive and valuable rest room in their booths to which all ladies who visit the show are cordially invited. The exhibits of farm machinery, good roads equipment, the railroad booths and the various community displays combine to make an exposition of great beauty and interest.

The doors opened promptly at 6 o'clock with the Alabama state band on the job. For a long time before this hour the crowds had been gathering around the Auditorium.

Bohemia in Evidence.

Bohemia, the indoor midway, was strictly in evidence, with its many and varied attractions drawing the crowds. This promises to be one of the most popular sections of the land show during the entire two weeks of its operation.

Saturday, February 3, will be Children's day, when all school children will be admitted to the show by special tickets at reduced prices. Monday, February 5, will be a red-letter day. On the evening of that day the great movie contest will take place on the stage of the Auditorium, when the successful candidates in the local theater contests from cities all over the four southeastern states will contest for the honor of making the most attractive screen appearance.

Every day during the land show will be crowded with features of special interest. The program will be announced each day for the following day. Hundreds of visitors are already in Atlanta for the land show and more are arriving by every train, people from all over the country taking advantage of the special very low rates to visit this section and take in this event, the greatest ever undertaken in the interest of progressive development in the southeast.

EVERYTHING STAKED IN FIGHT TO FINISH

German Chancellor Says Cereal and Coal Situation Will Soon Become Unbearable for Entente.

Berlin, January 31.—(Via London, February 1.)—Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg and other ministers attended an important meeting of the ways and means committee of the reichstag today, at which the entire war situation was gone over and new steps planned by the central powers were considered.

The chancellor opened the sitting with a speech, of which the keynote words were:

"We have been challenged to fight to the end. We accept the challenge, we stake everything and we shall be victorious."

The secretary of state for the admiralty spoke of the situation from the technical, military and naval viewpoint. Detailed statistical data in regard to the economic position of the world was supplied by the secretary of the interior, and Foreign Secretary Zimmermann replied to several special questions.

The committee then went into secret session, at which speeches were made by representatives of the centris, national, liberal and progressive parties.

"Moment Has Now Arrived."

In his address today before the reichstag committee, Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg explained why in March and May of last year he had opposed unrestricted submarine warfare, and why again in September, "according to the unanimous judgment of the political and military authorities, the question was considered ripe for decision."

The chancellor repeated his previous utterance that as soon as he in agreement with the supreme army conimand reached the conviction that ruthless submarine war would bring Germany nearer a victory the U-boat war would be started.

"This moment has now arrived," he continues. "Last autumn the time was not yet ripe, but today the moment has come when, with the greatest prospect of success we can undertake the enterprise. We must therefore not wait any longer.

Allies in Critical Condition.

"Where has there been any change in the situation?" the chancellor asked. "In the first place, the most important fact of all is that the number of our submarines has been very considerably increased as compared with last spring, and thereby a firm basis for success has been established. The second decisive reason is the bad cereal harvest of the world. This fact already confronts England, France and Italy with serious difficulties which by means of unrestricted U-boat war will be brought to a point of unbearableness. The coal question, too, is a vital question in war. Already it is critical, as you know, in Italy and France. Our submarines will make it still more critical."

The chancellor's announcement has been the subject of discussion at great headquarters during the last week by the emperor, the chancellor, the foreign secretary, the military authorities and the Austro-Hungarian premier, Count Czernin.

Although a decision is supposed to have been reached last week, Foreign Secretary Zimmermann again traveled to great headquarters on Monday. On his return Tuesday he received the American ambassador, James W. Gerard, and held a lengthy discussion with him.

REPORTED MRS. INNES MAY ENTER GUILT PLEA

Friends Feel That Her Health Might Be Improved at the State Farm.

A rumor was current around the courthouse yesterday that Mrs. Victor Innes, accused in the Nelms sisters' disappearance mystery, will not be brought to trial next Monday week, as scheduled in Judge Ben Hill's division of superior court, but that a plea of guilty is likely to be entered in order that Judge Hill may dispose of the case and send the woman to the state farm, where she can have adequate medical attention.

Mrs. Innes is suffering with tuberculosis, and physicians have slight hope for her recovery. Her health has declined rapidly since her confinement more than two years ago when she and her husband were arrested in San Antonio, Texas, and charged with the murder of the missing Nelms sisters. She is now confined to her bed for the most part of each day.

The decision of the court of appeals, to which Innes carried his case after being convicted and sentenced to seven years by Judge Hill, is expected next week.

Despite rumors that a plea of guilt would be entered, attaches of the solicitor general's office were busy Thursday renewing communication with witnesses in the far west for the purpose of bringing them back to Atlanta for the second Innes trial.

PERSHING EXPEDITION TO CROSS LINE MONDAY

3,000 Mexicans, Fleeing from Country, Trudge Beside American Troops.

Temporary Field Headquarters American Punitive Expedition, Ojo Federico, Chihuahua, February 1.—(By Airplane to Columbus, N. M.)—The punitive expedition today entered the last phase of its withdrawal from Mexico. When the main column recrosses the border February 5 there will have passed 327 days since the first troops left the United States in pursuit of Francisco Villa.

Of much interest has been the exodus of about 3,000 Mexicans along the American line of communications. On foot, in rickety wagons, on burros and scrawny ponies, they are preceding and flanking the long columns of marching troops.

"It is an exceedingly sad commentary on conditions in Mexico," said General Pershing today, "when 3,000 natives will leave their homes to follow to an alien land an invading army they had been taught to hate and fear."

GERMANY CLAIMS MISUSE OF HOSPITAL VESSELS

Berlin, January 31.—(By Wireless to the Associated Press Via Sayville, February 1.)—The German government's memorandum giving notification that hospital ships had been barred from their privileges in the waters south of Great Britain was accompanied by 23 affidavits and statements intended to establish the presence of armament on board hospital ships and their use to convey troops and ammunition. These include statements by eyewitnesses charging violations of international usage. The British hospital ships Britannic and Aquitania are named in the documents as among those which had carried troops.

CUT THIS OUT

OLD ENGLISH RECIPE FOR CATARRH, CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES.

If you know of some one who is troubled with Catarrhal Deafness, head noises or ordinary catarrh cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. In England scientists for a long time past have recognized that catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily requires constitutional treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear which frequently means total deafness, or else the disease may be driven down the air passages towards the lungs, which is equally as dangerous. The following formula which is used extensively in the damp English climate is a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers here who live under more favorable climate conditions.

Secure from your Druggist 1 ounce of Parmint (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and 4 ounces of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and hearing improve, as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. Parmint used in this way acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a slight tonic action that facilitates obtaining the desired results. The preparation is easy to make, costs little and is pleasant to take. Every person who has catarrh should give this treatment a trial.

RUSS TROOPS SCORE GAIN NEAR KALNZEM

Three Attacks Made on Russian Positions on the Rumanian Front Are Repulsed, Petrograd Announces.

New York, February 1.—(By Associated Press. From European Cables of the Day.)—On the fighting fronts there has been little activity aside from the operations of small reconnoitering parties and artillery duels. Petrograd reports a Russian advance near Kalnzem, southwest of Riga, and the repulse of three attacks by the Austro-Germans against the Russians east of Jacobeni, near the northern Rumanian frontier. Small actions also have occurred in the Narayuvka river region in Galicia.

In northwest Persia the Turks are credited with gains over the Russians by Berlin. Reconnoitering engagements continue around Kut-el-Amara and a heavy bombardment also is in progress there.

In the Austro-Italian theater the Austrians are bombarding with great intensity the region near Lake Garda, and positions in the Gorizia zone and on the Carso plateau.

Russ Troops Advance.

Petrograd, February 1.—(Via London.)—The Russian official statement today says:

"Rumanian Front: During last night the enemy carried out three attacks against the heights of Jacobeni, southwest of Kimpolung. He was thrown back with heavy losses.

"During Tuesday's battle in the region east of Jacobeni we took 11 officers and more than 1,000 men prisoners, and captured ten machine guns, one gun and some mine throwers and trench mortars.

"Caucasian Front: The snowstorm continues along the entire front.

"In the Black sea our warships captured near Anatolia five boats, including three motor boats.

"Western Front: The sector on the Kalnzem high road has been entirely cleared of the enemy. Our troops, notwithstanding asphyxiating gas, severe frost and the obstinate resistance of the enemy, have reoccupied their trenches."

All Quiet, Says Berlin.

Berlin, February 1.—(Via Sayville.)—"No notable happenings have been reported from any of the fronts," says this evening's supplementary army headquarters statement.

French Airmen Busy.

Paris, February 1.—"Patrol encounters occurred at various points along the front, especially east of Rheims and in the region of Altkirch," says today's official communication. "Elsewhere the night was calm.

"Last night one of our aerial squadrons bombarded the railway station and enemy storehouses at Marchy and Voyannes, and also some barracks to the east of Nesle."

The official communication issued by the war office tonight reads:

"There was no event of importance in the course of the day except a somewhat lively artillery action at Hartmans-Weilerkopf and east of Metzeral."

Belgian Communication: "The activity of German patrols during the night was everywhere repulsed. The German artillery was very active in the region of Het Sas and in the direction of Dixmude. Artillery actions occurred in the sectors of Ramscapelle, Pervyse and Noordschoote."

VESSELS WILL SAIL UNLESS ORDERED HELD

Collector Malone's trip of inspection last night, according to Chief Hayes, of the Hoboken police, who accompanied him, disclosed the fact that none of the ships, with the exception of the giant Vaterland, had enough coal aboard for more than twelve hours' steaming.

Although representatives here of leading allied shipping lines said today the movements of their vessels would proceed as scheduled, regardless of the German note defining a new naval warfare, it was understood on good authority that the movement of all ships will be controlled to even a greater degree than heretofore by orders of the British admiralty.

Prompt action was taken, however, by representatives of neutral lines whose vessels have been touching at Kirkwall and Falmouth for examination. The Danish passenger steamer Hellig Olav, booked to leave today for Copenhagen, was ordered to remain here until further notice.

Awaiting Official Orders.

Similar action was taken by the Holland-American line, which has five ships in American ports.

Representatives of these lines expect definite orders soon regarding the future movements of their ships.

From representatives of several shipping companies, it was learned that they were doing nothing pending receipt of expected "official orders."

The neutrality squad of the customs office has been increased. German and Austrian ships, valued at approximately $50,000,000, tied in New York are being carefully watched. No unusual activity has been reported.

Up to noon but two ships had passed out, the British steamship Parima for West Indian ports, and a small American steamer whose name could not be learned owing to a heavy fog.

Announcement was made here this morning by a representative of the Scandinavian-American line that the sailing of the passenger liner Hellig Olav, booked to leave at 2 p. m. today with 300 passengers and cargo for Copenhagen via Kirkwall, had been indefinitely postponed.

Port Again Opened.

After being sealed all night by a cordon of destroyers and coast guard patrol boats, the port of New York was today opened by the customs authorities to all incoming and outgoing shipping.

The stand taken by the collector of the port was that ships could sail at their own risk. They were permitted to clear, as usual.

Four large steamships having the appearance of passenger vessels and escorted by two warships were sighted January 29 off Sable Island, N. S., by officers of the Dutch steamship Zuiderdijk, which arrived here today from Rotterdam. The officers said they got the impression they were carrying Canadian troops.

Costumes in Julian Eltinge's Show Are Veritable Rainbow of Color

For gorgeous costumes Julian Eltinge's show, "Cousin Lucy," which opened at the Atlanta theater Thursday night, has everything else that has been here this season backed off the boards. Eltinge's costumes are of indescribable richness and color and design, and the costumes of his chorus are a veritable rainbow of riotous colorings. Moreover, there seems no limit to the number of "changes." Each act calls for several different sets of costumes, each costume different from all the rest, and each set of costumes, if possible, more beautiful than those that preceded.

"Female impersonator," as the impression goes from what one usually sees of this vocation upon the vaudeville stage, is something of a misnomer for Eltinge. He makes a fine art of the role of a woman, and, in the role of a man, leaves the impression of being very much of a masculine sort of a man.

It is in the costumes and in Eltinge himself, however, that the chief interest of the show lies. Neither the book nor the action of the show is particularly lively, as "girl shows" go, though there are one or two rather pretty airs in the music, such as "Sweetheart," "Call on Me" and "Two Heads Are Better Than One."

There are several specialties dances that are also entertaining.

Dallas Walford, as the servant, and Mark Smith, a boobishly pliable sort of a husband, afford a touch of really laughable comedy.

Maybelle Cedars has the one voice in the company worth mentioning.

There will be a performance Friday that is at all times convincing and worth while.

NED M'INTOSH.

Family Vaudeville.

(At the Rialto.)

The Rialto theater has what might be termed as a fair bill for its patrons for the last three days of the week.

The bill is headlined with "Joy Riders," a musical comedy with four pretty girls, assisted by four boys. The girls are dainty dressers and with their dancing and songs, together with the splendid acting of the boys, the act is justly placed in a class to itself.

Helen Jackey, an acrobat, who pleased the audience with some clever acting, opens the bill.

With a piano, Virginia Dale entertains the audience with some good music and a number of popular songs.

Togan and Geneva, wire walkers, perform some difficult stunts on a wire stretched across the stage.

Music, song, dancing and comedy all are offered by Miller and Rainey. With a saxaphone and a trombone they give the audience a treat that is well worth hearing.

Pathe cartoons and travelogues ends the bill.

RICHMOND DORMAN.

"Temptation."

(At the Forsyth.)

George Damerel, of "Merry Widow" fame, tops the Keith vaudeville show at the Forsyth this week in the colorful and bizarre musical fantasy, "Temptation," in which he has the splendid support of Edward Hume, comedian of exceptionally fine attainments; Myrtle Vail, as the "Temptation Woman," and a big chorus. The Watson Sisters, Fanny and Kitty, offer a collection of new songs and display some of the most gorgeous of gowns. Herr Jansen and his mystery maids in a brilliantly produced and far above the ordinary magic act; Oscar Lorraine, violin-nuttist, and others make up a dandy bill.

Loew's Vaudeville.

(At the Grand.)

Owen McGiveney, lightning change artist, is the headline attraction on the all-star bill of Marcus Loew vaudeville at the Grand theater this week. In "Moments With Dickens," without the aid of others, delineates each character. In addition the Grand bill offers the brilliant Sallie Fields in topical songs; Martin and Mack, in dance oddities and novel vocal numbers; Jerome and Carson in an act that thrills and amuses, and Ed and Minnie Foster in a melange of mut stuff. The moving picture branch of the program is headlined by the ever-popular Alice Brady in "The Hungry Heart," a lavish screen adaptation of the famous stage success, "Frou Frou."

Robert Edeson.

(At the Atlanta.)

On Monday and Tuesday, with a Tuesday matinee, Robert Edeson will be at the Atlanta in a new play, "His Brother's Keeper," which has been receiving much praise. Mr. Edeson is surrounded by a wonderful company of perfect players. The Savannah News describes the play as "a rare dramatic treat," with many witty lines and bright dialogue. It will be the first appearance here of Mr. Edeson since "Fine Feathers," though he is well remembered as a star of many fine plays in the past. Seats are now on sale for the Atlanta engagement.

"Devil's Pay Day."

(At the Vaudette.)

The jagged edges of the divorce question today at the Vaudette theater. It's a "The Devil's Pay Day," which is the attraction today at the aVudette theater. It's a Bluebird, and it's a real Bluebird hit. In the film a clubman marries a country girl, neglects and then casts her off. The castoff decides upon revenge and schools herself to become attractive to her former husband. Then she ensnares him with her charms, ruins him by her treachery. The film has a strong finish. Harold Lockwood and Mae Allison will be back at the Vaudette Saturday in that winning picture, "Pidgin Island."

Anita Stewart.

(At the Strand.)

When the heroine of "The Glory of Yolanda" is compelled to decide between fame and wealth and a mere man she takes the man without a moment's hesitation, even if such a choice does include a trip to Siberia. Anita Stewart is more radiant than ever as Yolanda, the daughter of a Russian. The picture is a Vitagraph-Blue Ribbon feature and has been booked by Manager Fowler as the prize attraction of the week at the Strand. In the film the star is seen as a dancer, a gifted dancer, with the Imperial Russion ballet.

Vivian Martin.

(At the Savoy.)

Vivian Martin, the charming and ever-popular star, will be seen at the Savoy today and Saturday in her latest success, "The Wax Model," a thrilling drama of the artist's life in London, written especially for this star. In this splendid production Miss Martin is given a wonderful opportunity to display some of the most exquisite gowns of the current mode. She is supported by Thomas Holding and a cast of unusual excellence, which includes George Fisher, Helen Jerome Eddy, Kathryn Vaughn, Senor Buzzi and others.

"Chicken Casey."

(At the Odeon.)

"Chicken Casey," the new Triangle play which will be seen at the Odeon theater today, is a starring vehicle for Dorothy Dalton. She appears as an actress who reads a best seller by a popular author and decides that she wishes to play the leading role in a dramatization of the book. The part is that of a girl of the slums. The author, having seen her in only different roles, deems her unfit to play the character. The actress takes an unique way to convince him that he is wrong. Disguising herself as a girl of the type he portrays, she contrives to meet the young man in the slums, and so befool him that his downfall is complete. Fatty Arbuckle in a Keystone comedy is also on today's program.

"Shoes."

(At the Alpha.)

Mary McLaren has the engaging role of the sorely tried shop girl in "Shoes," which is the attraction at the Alpha theater today. The girl in the story needed shoes and there was no money to pay for them. The stern decree of poverty confronted her. Just how she got these shoes is the basis for a story that is at all times convincing and worth while.

Today at the Movies.

ODEON—Dorothy Dalton in "Chicken Casey."
SAVOY—Vivian Martin in "The Wax Model."
STRAND—Anita Stewart in "The Glory of Yolanda."
CRITERION—Clara Kimball Young in "The Common Law."
VICTORIA—Florence Reed in "The Woman's Law."
ALAMO NO. 2—Francis Bushman and Beverly Bayne in "The Great Secret."

ALPHA—Mary McLaren in "Shoes."

MEASURE ASKS PROBE OF COTTON EXCHANGE

Resolution Is Introduced in the Senate by Smith of South Carolina.

Washington, February 1.—A resolution directing the attorney general to investigate transactions on the New York cotton exchange to ascertain whether they "are unlawful or in restraint of trade," was introduced today by Senator Smith, of South Carolina. He expects to discuss it later.

The preamble declares that complaints have been made that there is a practice on the exchange of buying and selling cotton below the local spot price and that this is demoralizing to domestic and foreign trade.

Quite the Most Remarkable

Sale of Evening Dresses

We Have Ever Announced

40 Dresses ($^{21}_{\text{Styles}}$) for Misses and Women at 20 Dresses ($^{20}_{\text{Styles}}$) for Juniors at 12.45

Although they are freshly arrived, as new as the morning, we do not hesitate to say that they would be out and out values at $20.00 and $25.00.

The Ready-to-Wear Chief has just sent them in from New York. How in the world he got them at such a price is beyond us, and his letter fails to state. However, that's of little consequence.

Here are the dresses!

And we just wish that all the women and misses and junior girls of Atlanta could see them!

But there are only sixty in all.

Nets—white nets, colored nets, over cloth of gold, over silver, over taffeta, over satin; dresses of taffeta, dresses of soft and weighty satin, quaint little bits of puff sleeves; corsage bouquets, skirts that are decidedly wide over the hips, skirts that are tiers of ruffles, plain and graceful skirts—but there is no picturing them; twenty-one distinct styles in sizes for women and misses—every color, white, light blue, pink, dark green, Nile, maize, petunia, orchid. These are in the Ready-to-Wear Section, Second Floor.

And the twenty dresses, one of a kind, for juniors. They look like a great cluster of spring's loveliest flowers. One marvels that one house could develop so many styles, each one so dainty and pretty. And the impressive part is that every style is clearly a style for a young girl. Nets, taffetas and Georgette crepes, every color. See them! These are in the Junior Department, Third Floor.

All Odd Lots of

Boots, Oxfords, Pumps and Evening Slippers

Are Divided Into Three Parts and Priced

Clearing the way for another season—and we make it possible for women to effect some genuinely fine savings regardless of the fact that shoe prices are aeroplaning nowadays.

Bear in mind, please, that the reason for these reduced prices is that they are odd lots—so there is not every size in every style, but there is every style.

SOCIETY

Miller-Monsalvatge.

A pretty event of Wednesday evening, January 31, was the marriage of Miss Florence Miller, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Miller, to Mr. Raymond F. Monsalvatge, son of Mrs. Ynes Monsalvatge, of this city. The Church of the Epiphany, Inman Park, where the service took place, presented a scene of unusual beauty. Quantities of flowers, ferns and palms were banked against the high marble altar and walls. Palms also outlined an aisle through which the bridal party came and starlike lights from many tapers added to the charming picture.

Miss Alice Miller was maid of honor; Miss Lucille Steed, of Savannah, and Misses Edna and Mabel Monsalvatge, bridesmaids. Mr. Monsalvatge's best man was Mr. Benjamin F. Summerour, of Duluth, and Mrs. Charles Albert McFeeters, Mr. James T. Miller and Mr. Orme Miller were the groomsmen.

The rector, Rev. Russell Kane Smith, officiated.

Miss Miller, a sister of the bride, presided at the organ, and rendered a Wagnerian program preceding the wedding.

The bride entered the church with her father and was lovely in her wedding gown of white satin with train hung from the shoulders and veil of tulle. The groom's gift to the bride was a chain and cross of pearls. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor was gowned in white messaline and net, carrying an armful of sunset roses. The bridesmaids were exquisitely gowned in gold and white and carried bouquets of golden roses. Mrs. John M. Miller, mother of the bride, wore pearl grey satin, embroidered in cut steel and rose. Mrs. Ynes Monsalvatge's gown was of black lace and jet.

One hundred guests were entertained at a reception following at "High Point," the handsome home of the bride's parents in Druid Hills.

Miss Henry Etter Wilt kept the bride's book. Assisting in the entertainment of the guests were the following young matrons: Mrs. Linton Stephens Smith, Mrs. James G. Thrower, Mrs. Raymond J. Squires, Mrs. Byron Kistner and Mrs. Edward R. Turner, of West Point. Presiding at the punch bowls were Miss Kathrine Camp, Miss Aileen Morris, Misses Eva and Elisa Bridwell.

Mr. and Mrs. Monsalvatge will make their home in New Orleans.

For Mrs. McKenzie.

Mrs. William A. Speer entertained at a beautiful luncheon yesterday at her home on Peachtree street, followed by bridge in the afternoon for her daughter, Mrs. Marshall McKenzie, of Sarasota, Fla. The handsomely appointed luncheon table had as a centerpiece a large silver basket of jonquils and narcissi and about the table were placed smaller baskets of the flowers. The place cards were hand-painted in jonquils.

The candles were shaded in yellow and other details were in yellow and white.

The prizes at bridge were novelty baskets.

Mrs. Speer was gowned in blue taffeta and Mrs. McKenzie's gown was blue Georgette crepe.

There were sixteen guests.

Informal Tea.

Mrs. H. H. Cabaniss and Miss Mildred Cabaniss will entertain twelve ladies, to include only members of the family connection, informally at tea Tuesday afternoon at their home on Piedmont avenue in compliment to Mrs. Henry Peeples' guest, Miss Cornelia Anderson, of Hackensack, N. SPRING FESTIVAL BEING PLANNED BY ATLANTA TEACHERS

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Atlanta Public School Teachers' association on Thursday afternoon, plans were laid for holding early in March a great spring festival in which hundreds of Atlanta teachers and probably thousands of children will take part.

The festival will take place in the Auditorium, and each school will be invited to put on some feature of school work, or a pageant, representing some period of history. Some schools will present the folk dances of various nations. Comedy and highly amusing features, mixed with educational pageants and parades, will make one of the most entertaining evenings ever witnessed in Atlanta.

A committee will be appointed at the meeting of the directors of the Teachers' association Saturday to seek the co-operation of the school authorities and to work out the details for the event.

KERRIGAN IN PERSON TODAY AT ALAMO NO. 2

He will arrive this morning and will remain until Sunday morning, staying at the Hotel Ansley.

"Mr. Kerrigan has only until April to complete this extensive tour," said Manager Schmidt, of Alamo No. 2, "and his time is very limited at all of his stops. Nevertheless, he is sparing nothing to make the personal acquaintance of as many as possible of the people who have watched his work on the screen and who care to see him and talk to him as himself."

Physicians and Surgeons Said I Could Not Live. More Testimony of Knowlton's Goitre Treatment.

McConnelsville, Ohio, Nov. 16, 1916.

Two years ago I had been given up to die with an exophthalmic goitre. I was perfectly helpless, nearly blind, heart 170—badly emaciated, being unable to eat any solids, and very little fluids.

I was told by an eminent surgeon that an operation meant death. When at my worst, hope all gone, I was induced to try Knowlton's Goitre Treatment. My improvement was rapid, my return to health, and strength speedy, so that in four months I had recovered my lost weight, and in every way felt perfectly well, not a sign or symptom of goitre remaining. I know of many who have taken this treatment, 42 persons in my own town. I have never heard of a failure or complaint relative to this treatment.

Respectfully,
MRS. ALICE SAVAGE.

P. S. Dr. Geo. B. Simpson, a physician of extensive experience, will be in charge of the Institute constantly. Examinations and consultation free. Correspondence solicited.

CITY HALL ANNEX BATTLE IS RAGING IN MACON POLITICS

Macon, Ga., February 1.—(Special.)—No fight in recent years has attracted so much attention in Macon, or has been waged so vigorously, as is the present one against the plan of the mayor and council to build an annex to the present city hall from the bond issue of $100,000 passed several months ago. At the time the bond issue was voted it was announced that Macon was to have an auditorium seating 5,000 people, the need of which caused the bonds to be carried with practically no opposition. Now it has developed that instead of seating 5,000 people, the plans agreed on by city council for the auditorium give a seating capacity of only 3,000, or about five or six hundred more than the present auditorium, the plan being to enlarge the present auditorium somewhat and use the annex for offices for city officials.

Various civic organizations and individuals have raised their voices in protest and it is now generally believed that city council will decide to delay the awarding of the contract until such time as arrangements can be made to obtain more money with which to give the city an auditorium that will care for the needs of the city for many years to come.

Another thing that has aroused a great deal of protest is the action of the mayor and council in restricting the bidding to local contractors.

Bryan Makes Address To College Students On Equal Suffrage

LaGrange, Ga., February 1.—(Special.)—On Thursday morning LaGrange college gave William Jennings Bryan a royal and enthusiastic reception on the occasion of his brief, but masterly, address on woman's suffrage. The students and faculty assembled on the terrace, and, as the car bearing Mr. and Mrs. Bryan and Fuller Callaway nearer the campus, a hearty college yell, followed by "Bryan! Bryan!" greeted him.

Mr. Bryan never appeared more gracious than in his recognition of this courtesy. After a most happy introduction of Mrs. Bryan, he gave seven arguments in favor of woman suffrage.

This was the second opportunity the college has had of hearing Mr. Bryan this week, as he delivered an address on "War and Its Lessons" at the courthouse, under the auspices of the Woman's club, on Wednesday evening.

FLOYD WILL BECOME STRICTLY ECONOMICAL

Rome, Ga., February 1.—(Special.)—The Floyd county grand jury, which adjourned yesterday, recommended, in view of the county's financial condition, a program of rigid economy during the year 1917. The grand jury urged that the board of commissioners refuse to undertake any new roadwork, but confine themselves to the maintenance of existing roads and completion of those started.

They further recommended the abolition of the office of county engineer, which pays $2,400 per annum, and is held by K. Lindsey.

The insanitary condition of the county jail was condemned, and it was suggested that prisoners be sent to some other jail for a period of sixty days while the building was renovated and repaired.

COSTS CASE DISMISSED BY COLUMBUS COURT

Columbus, Ga., February 1.—(Special.)—Solicitor T. Hicks Fort, who caused the issuance of a rule nisi on January 20 against Earl H. Johnson, clerk of the city court of Columbus, dismissed his rule when the case was called this morning before Judge G. Y. Tigner, of the city court.

The rule was issued against the clerk following the placing of the solicitor on a salary basis and was for insolvent costs to the amount of $10,000 claimed prior to January 1, 1917, the date when the salary system became effective.

The dismissal followed the statement by Judge A. W. Cozart representing the defendant, that there was no general law under which the solicitors of the city court could claim insolvent costs and that all such costs that had hitherto been collected had been done so illegally.

Judge Cozart further declared that the former solicitors of the city court of Columbus doubtlessly owed Muscogee county as much as $20,000.

The case created widespread notice as it was the first of the kind in this section.

Uncle Sam's Exhibit Shows Farmers Advantages of Municipal Abattoirs

One of the most striking features of the United States government's exhibit at the Southeastern Land show is its miniature municipal packing plant, which shows what Uncle Sam, through the bureau of animal industry of the department of agriculture, is doing to improve the quality of animal foods consumed by the public, to safeguard it against diseased meats and to put a stop to the waste of millions of dollars annually in slaughter house and packing plant by-products.

This model slaughter house is complete to the last detail, incorporating as it does every essential and every convenience and facility of the modern, up-to-date packing plant—all, of course, in miniature. Wherever, even, is to be found a light in the "full grown" establishment, there is a tiny incandescent lamp glowing in the interior of this model.

The purpose of the government is to induce cities to build and operate their own packing plants, slaughtering and preparing for consumption the live stock under present conditions slaughtered by the farmers at home. The plan contemplates state laws forbidding the slaughtering of animals on the farm. The farmer would be charged a small fee, say 50 cents or 25 cents, depending upon the species of animal, for the service rendered by the plant, but he would get back many times that amount in the saving of blood, bone, hide, hair, hoofs, horns, entrails, etc., for all of that which he would not want himself, the packing house would pay him. This would be utilized in the manufacture of fertilizer and various other forms of packing house by-products; so that everybody, producer of the stock, the consumers of the meat and the city owning the plant, would profit.

The enterprise is yet new, only three such packing houses being in operation.

The government will furnish any city desiring to build one of these packing plants with the necessary blue prints and architect's plans free of cost, and an expert, without cost, to start the plant off. The only requirement is that the city must furnish a qualified inspector, if the plant engages only in intrastate business. If it engages in interstate business, then the government furnishes the inspector, as it does now in all packing plants engaged in interstate business.

The government furnishes one of two sets of plans, optional with the city to build the plant. One of these is for a plant of concrete construction, the building of which costs approximately $33,000. The other is for a wood and masonry plant, the cost of which is around $22,500.

THE NEW WAR CRISIS.

Germany's repeal of all her previous promises bearing upon the conduct of her submarines, and her removal of all restrictions governing the attitude of her naval arm toward ocean commerce, neutral as well as belligerent, brings the United States face to face with a new crisis, and one more acute than any that has been passed since the war began.

If Germany's latest declaration does not in itself mean the immediate severance of diplomatic relations between that government and ours, it does mean that if Germany carries out her avowed intention the breaking off of diplomatic relations between the two governments is a matter of days, possibly hours.

But that does not necessarily mean war. It may mean that we shall simply cut the official acquaintance of Germany pending an adjustment of relationship.

But if Germany's policy after that involves the loss of American life or attack upon American shipping on the high seas, that will be a different matter.

It will mean inevitably that the weight of the United States will be thrown back of the entente allies. There will be no other alternative open to us which we can employ with self-respect and world-respect.

Germany's declaration, coming as it does upon the heels of her repeated insistance upon peace, seems to point with deepest significance to what the allies maintain is a fact: That the central powers have reached an impasse. This last move is indicative of desperation. It rather forcibly bears out the alarming reports, current during the last few months, that Germany may be rapidly approaching a state of internal demoralization.

It is entirely possible that, realizing the inevitable, the German emperor may have deliberately taken this last drastic step to force a conclusion without the stupendous loss of life and money that would follow a long continuation of war.

Great Britain and her allies are undoubtedly better prepared than they have ever been, and the pressure they are prepared to exert on the central powers will be appalling in its consequences if applied under the general plans now being formed for onslaught against every front with the opening of the spring campaign.

If Germany sees the end, and, knowing what the cost of another year's havoc of war will be, could it adopt more certain means to bring on the end with as little delay as possible than by involving the United States and throwing the weight of its power in a balance that will be so powerful as to force peace by the only method that is left?

In that event, the United States would sit at the table when the final terms of peace are being negotiated, and indications point to the fact that this, to say the least of it, would not be objectionable to the central powers.

At any rate, events are rapidly developing and the world will soon know—better than at any time than for the past two years—where it stands, and what is likely to happen in the final round-up!

THE HEALTH LAW.

In adopting resolutions, appearing elsewhere upon this page, urging action by county authorities in making effective the provisions of the Ellis health bill, the public health committee of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs is only continuing with renewed emphasis the splendid efforts that organization began some years ago to improve the general health and sanitation conditions prevailing in Georgia.

During the pendency of the Ellis bill before the general assembly in 1914, it had no more earnest support than that afforded by the women's clubs federation. As a matter of fact, to the women of Georgia is due the lion's share of credit for the law; and it is only natural and proper that the organization should not relinquish its zeal until the good work contemplated in the measure becomes effective in every county in the state.

The Ellis health law is good in every particular. It contemplates the health needs of the community from every standpoint—physiologic, hygienic and sanitary. Particularly does it stress the last named, and were it generally operative and enforced the sanitation and mortality statistics of Georgia, especially among the poorer classes, would be greatly improved, and everybody would be benefited.

Many of the counties of Georgia have risen to the possibilities of the law. All of them should.

ON THE RIGHT TRACK.

Dougherty county farmers are on the right track.

During the last thirty days six carloads of beef cattle and five of hogs have been shipped from Albany, the county seat, to packing houses—for the most part in Atlanta—whereas, up to about a month ago not one carload of hogs had been shipped from that point in fifty years.

For fifty years, then, the home demand called for all of the pork products of the surrounding farms, and during that time considerable amount of money was sent out of the county for meats grown elsewhere.

What an inspiring reversal of conditions, and how significant of a new era of rural thrift and prosperity!

It means that the farmers of that section of Georgia, having been virtually compelled by the boll weevil to ease off on cotton, have turned their attention and efforts toward new fields of production; and they are finding in the growing of more and better live stock a more lucrative and far less hazardous occupation than they enjoyed under the old order of things. And it is getting to be more and more the same all over the state.

Our Albany report says:

> Practically without exception, farmers throughout this part of the state are going in for live stock. They have placed fine strains of hogs and cattle in their pastures in place of native scrub stock, and some of the finest live stock in the south is now to be found on the farms of this section.

And truly gratifying is the fact that "negro farmers are showing a keen interest in this forward movement."

"There is hardly a negro farmer," says the dispatch, "living on his own place who has not bought better hogs, . . . and placing fancy strains in his pasture."

All indications are that for the last time in its history Georgia has sent $15,000,000 outside of the state for meat, as it did last year.

There's money in the live stock business, and the farmers of Georgia are beginning to realize it.

PROPER RAILROAD REGULATION

In the course of an address at a banquet in Jacksonville, Fla., a few days ago, W. L. Stanley, Atlanta, assistant to the president of the Seaboard Air Line railroad, hit the nail squarely on the head when, in discussing the regulation of railroads by state and federal government, he said that what the south and the railroads need is:

> "A regulation that promotes—not punishes.
> "A regulation that attracts capital, not repels it.
> "A regulation that fosters industries, not destroys them.
> "A regulation that develops the resources of a country, and does not leave them to the imaginary latent power of their own resurrection."

He is precisely right!

Too often "regulation" regulates from the wrong end, one way or another. Sometimes "regulation" is unfair to and discriminatory against railroads; other times it may be unjust and detrimental to the public and the country.

Just regulation is the only sort that can produce the best results—in the words of Mr. Stanley:

> "We need a regulation devoid of prejudice and free from politics, whose essentials are not cheapness, but service and safety, which, while having due regard for the protection of the public against the avarice of the unscrupulous promoter, will, at the same time guarantee to the legitimate investor a fair and equitable return upon his investment."

As The Constitution recently pointed out, there is something fundamentally wrong when railroad building and development reaches such a low ebb as it did in the south during the last year. Whatever it is—whether it is too much or not the right sort of "regulation"—it should be remedied; and our laws and policies affecting the railroads should be such and so administered as to make railroad development in the south profitable, because railroads are the life arteries of any section.

The position taken by Mr. Stanley is eminently fair and right, and his suggestions, carried out, can hurt no one nor any interest, but be beneficial to the railroads and the people alike.

Every national Thrift day is a jingling success.

The automobile of the farmer who lives at home has its frequent parking days in front of the town bank.

In England they are manufacturing souvenir trinkets out of the material of Wrecked Zeppelins, but the difficulty is in bringing down enough of them to supply the demand.

With such a commendable desire to "get down to business," it's possible congress may catch up with it after a while.

Club Women Urge Counties To Invoke Ellis Health Act

At the recent meeting of the public health committee of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs a set of resolutions was adopted calling upon the authorities of Georgia counties to take steps as early as possible to make effective in their respective counties the provisions of the Ellis health law, enacted by the state general assembly in 1914.

This bill, championed throughout by the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs through its public health committee, contemplates a general elevation of the health conditions of the state, providing, as it does, for rigid enforcement of the rules of sanitation and hygiene, careful supervision and watchfulness over the physical condition of public school children, etc.

The law becomes operative in any county after it shall have been indorsed by two county grand juries. To date only a portion of the counties have availed themselves of its beneficent effects, and the purpose of the resolutions in question is to spur the authorities of the delinquent counties to action.

The resolutions are signed by Mrs. Jeff Davis, of Toccoa, chairman of the public health committee and district president of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, and who also is vice president of the Ellen Wilson Memorial association. They follow:

"Be it resolved, That the public authorities of the several counties of Georgia be urged to take steps to put into operation the act of 1914 known as the Ellis health bill, and that a copy of this resolution be mailed to each of the judges of the superior courts requesting them to bring to the attention of grand juries said law, under the terms of which it is necessary that the acceptance and enforcement of the law must first have the recommendation of two grand juries before the same may become effective; and, be it further

"Resolved, That the press of Georgia be requested to give friendly publicity to the terms of said law to the end that the public health and especially the physical welfare of school children be thereby conserved.

"MRS. JEFF DAVIS,

RAILROAD WOULD CONSIDER PLAZA PLAN AFTER W. & A. LEASE HAS BEEN CLOSED

The Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad, present lessee of the Western and Atlantic railroad and bidder for the new lease, will consent to a clause in the lease providing for a consideration of Atlanta's plaza plan by a representative of the state of Georgia after the lease is closed. This was the statement made by Henry Walters, of Baltimore, chairman of the board of directors of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis, to the Atlanta plaza commission at a conference in the office of Mayor Candler Thursday at noon.

Thus it appears that the clause becomes an open-and-shut proposition of whether the Western and Atlantic railroad commission, which is representing the interests of the state in the lease of the road, can strike an agreement with the bidder which will alter the situation enough to permit of inserting the clause as requested by the plaza commission. In view of the attitude taken by Mr. Walters, which is clearly that his road regards such a clause as a sort of "unknown quantity" in the lease, and would therefore desire a reduction in the rental price, small hope is entertained for relief in the Western and Atlantic commission conferences.

Plaza Plan Not Abandoned.

This does not mean, however, that the fight for a plaza over the tracks of the Western and Atlantic railroad in Atlanta is done. Members of the plaza commission made this quite clear Thursday, both in the conference with Mr. Walters and in statements to the press after the conference. It means that, if the plaza clause proposal falls, the fight is just beginning. The plaza commission will seek relief by other methods.

Mr. Walters stated to the commission in the conference Thursday that, "after the lease is closed," the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad will be glad to consider Atlanta's proposals for the construction of a plaza. He said that to insert the proposed plaza clause in the lease contract would very materially affect the negotiations now in progress with the Western and Atlantic commission. This represents concretely the attitude of Mr. Walters toward the plaza project at present.

For this attitude he gave no reason further than that his road did not desire to lease the Western and Atlantic railroad with a clause in the lease providing for some future change in the condition of the property which cannot be forecasted. He stated that he desired the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis to be on the same footing, with respect to the plaza, as other railroads operating in Atlanta, and that to place such a clause as the plaza clause in the lease contract would be to place a condition upon the lessee of the Western and Atlantic which would not be shared by other railroads.

Would Not Injure Railroad.

It was pointed out to Mr. Walters that the plaza plan does not contemplate any change in the condition of the Western and Atlantic property which would be detrimental to the property, the interests of the Western and Atlantic or the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis, or which would in any way handicap the operation of the roads. It was shown that the wholesale houses which have in years past operated below the viaducts have in recent years been moving out, and that there are many vacancies there now; that with the construction of the Arcade building an entire block of such houses will be moved at once—all of which indicates that the value of this railroad frontage for terminal delivery purposes is rapidly diminishing.

The economy with which the proposed improvements could be made now, in comparison to what relief from the situation in the future would cost, was also impressed upon Mr. Walters. It was stated that, unless some relief is granted by a plaza or some such method, electrification may have to be resorted to in the future, which is a rather expensive enterprise.

It may be also that condemnation proceedings would have to be taken in the matter of the Pryor street grade crossing and other improvements of an expensive nature brought about by other means than the plaza plan.

GOOD START MADE IN $13,000 CAMPAIGN FOR THE TABERNACLE

Reporting a good start in the three-day whirlwind campaign to raise $13,000 for the Baptist Tabernacle, managers of the two campaigning teams and W. G. Peebles, director of the canvass, held a supper and meeting with a number of church members at the Tabernacle Thursday night following the work of the organization through the day.

No great donations were reported as but little canvassing was done on Thursday, the day being given nearly entirely to a further perfecting of the plan of campaign.

Today, the twenty men will take the street and confidently expect before night to secure more than one-half of the balance needed to complete the fund to be used in refinancing the institution.

Dr. Joseph Broughton, captain of one of the teams, declared that the entire organization has been brought to a point of working perfection which will admit of only the best results.

The campaign will continue through today and Saturday and will come to a close when the final meeting is held Sunday at the church main auditorium.

PARKER HONOR GUEST AT LUNCHEON THURSDAY

John M. Parker, of New Orleans, who made the opening address at the land show Thursday night, was the guest of honor at a luncheon in the Piedmont hotel at 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, given by C. J. Haden, president of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce and chairman of the executive committee of the Southeastern Land show, at which 32 land show and chamber of commerce officials and invited guests were present.

Mr. Parker, the chief speaker, talked briefly, outlining in a way the speech he was to deliver later in the day at the Auditorium. He discussed summarily the boll weevil and its effects in the south, and the only known methods of overcoming the destruction which follows it: Diversification.

He also said that he is "desperately afraid" of the pink boll worm, which, he declared, is infinitely harder to deal with than the boll weevil. Once the pink boll worm reaches a cotton-producing region, he said, its destruction is inevitable and absolute.

In response to a question, Mr. Parker said that immediately after the advent of the boll weevil in northwest Louisiana, land values were thoroughly demoralized. "But today," he declared, "since the farmers have applied modern methods of diversified farming, and the raising of live stock, the lands are worth more than twice what they were before the boll weevil came."

J. D. Price, commissioner of the Georgia state department of agriculture, spoke briefly along the same line, giving a skeletonized account of what the farmers of Georgia in co-operation with the department have done and are doing along the lines of diversification indicated by Mr. Parker.

In the same vein Dr. P. H. Saunders, president of the Mortgage Securities Company of New Orleans, chairman of the board of the Louisiana State Rice Milling company, chairman of the branch federal reserve bank at New Orleans, and director of the federal reserve bank at Atlanta, of which the New Orleans institution is a branch, also made a short address in which he declared that today rural districts which have been hardest hit by the boll weevil are really better off than they were under all-cotton conditions.

The progressives of Georgia will entertain Mr. Parker at a luncheon at the Ansley hotel at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon.

CITY MAY PURCHASE FULTON COUNTY JAIL

Plans for purchase by the city of the county jail to be used as a city stockade have been about formed following a conference between Councilman Carpenter and Oscar Mills, chairman of the county commission.

It is planned to subdivide the present stockade property and make it into a residence park, and build a modern high school. The fulfillment of these plans would bring about extensive improvements both by the city and county as the county would build a new jail in the rear of the courthouse on property recently acquired.

Councilman Carpenter thinks that the sale by the city of the residence park lots would bring in enough money to the city to enable council to build a high school and make improvements in the county jail.

Chairman Mills favors the plan and thinks it feasible. If adopted it would solve the problem of a central high school, the consideration of which has been under way for some time.

COLEMAN RELEASED ON HABEAS CORPUS

Henry L. Coleman, held by the police in the court fight between himself and his wife for the possession of their two girl children, obtained freedom yesterday on a writ of habeas corpus granted by Judge Ben Hill.

Walter McElreath, attorney for the wife, informed Judge Hill that the governor of California has declined to sign requisition papers for Coleman. The latter's attorney, E. C. Buchanan, at once set out with the court's order freeing Coleman.

Included in the writ issued by Judge Hill was the order that neither father nor mother be allowed to talk to their children, now in the custody of the court, until the hearing on Mrs. Coleman's writ of habeas corpus for their possession, which will be held Saturday.

T. & P. ANNOUNCES NEW THROUGH SLEEPER

Campbell Wooldridge, local representative of the Texas and Pacific railroad, yesterday received official notification that, effective February 4, the Sunhine special, his line's crack train, will put on extra through sleeper service to and from Los Angeles, Cal.

There will be two of these, one originating at Memphis, the other at St. Louis. These sleepers will be picked up, without change by the Southern Pacific at El Paso, Texas.

SEEK FOR CONSTRUCTION OF FRANK RYAN WILL

A hearing was begun in superior court yesterday on a petition filed by the Trust Company of Georgia, executors, asking that the court construe the will of the late Frank P. Ryan, who left an estate valued at $30,000, the bulk of which was devised to three children, or to their children. Included in the will, however, was a provision that the money should go to a charity hospital, or hospital ward for charity, in event the children died, leaving no issue. The three children died, childless.

As St. Joseph's hospital is mentioned in the will the court is asked to determine whether the money shall be donated to that institution.

War Emphasizes Necessity Of Industrial Independence

Editor Constitution: Since the present great European war began we have heard the word "Americanism" used commonly in conversation and through the public press. Every true American wants to see his country second to none, whether it be from a military, a commercial, industrial or from any other standpoint. But with our population of more than one hundred million, with our vast area of farm land in its unimproved and undeveloped condition and our unlimited supply of mineral resources, have we caught the true meaning of "Americanism?" Are we making "America First" for Americans?

Depend Too Much on Others.

Before the European war began we had depended too much upon others. We were depending upon the merchant marines of other countries to handle our commerce. The export products that are therefore offered for sale found no markets when European ships were later withdrawn from merchant trade. Prices were smashed and hundreds of millions were lost to our producers. On the other hand, we had depended so long on European ships bringing to our country European products that when the ships were withdrawn we found the door to our supply of many common articles slammed in our face and the prices on those classes of merchandise therefore became exorbitant.

The supply of analine dyes is a conspicuous example. Germany had fostered the development of her analine dye industry through their sources, the coke ovens, and she was supplying us as well as a large part of the world with dyes. When merchant ships of Germany no longer came to our shores to sell us dyes we found ourselves unable to obtain them, and the prices of dyes and everything in which they were used became very high. The dyes used in printing our national currency were manufactured in Germany, and our government was placed in the humiliating attitude of having to ask the allied powers' permission for a package of dyes to be imported from Germany to be used in making our paper currency. The same was true with a number of our common drugs and other products derived from the coke ovens.

Americans Themselves Responsible.

We are responsible for the condition through which all have gone during this great war, and that we are responsible for the losses and suffering that we have endured. We can and should encourage and develop our own great country and its varied resources so that we will be less dependent for actual necessities upon sections without our own boundaries.

The European war, with all of its horrors, suffering and destruction, should be of value to us in serving to show us our weak points, not only in a military way, but also commercially and industrially. By encouraging, developing and patronizing our own industries of the "Made in the U. S. A." type we make ourselves more prosperous and independent of foreign sources of supply, and prepare against such conditions as did prevail after the beginning of the war and as prevail at this time.

We produce more coal and manufacture more steel than any other country in the world, yet we allow enough by-products of coal to go to waste to produce more than twice the amount of dye Germany was manufacturing when the war began. Every piece of cloth with a fast color has cost us more during this war because of the scarcity of dyes. Many articles we are unable to buy at all because no dyes can be obtained. And yet, while the war has been in progress, we have had millions of dollars' worth of materials going to waste from which we should be making dyes. And the dye industry is only a small part of by-products of coal.

Our agricultural interests are vitally concerned in the development of our coke-oven industry because of valuable fertilizer that should be saved from this source. The highest concentrated material as well as one of the most valuable fertilizers is sulphate of ammonia, a by-product from coal. Nearly $25,000,000 worth of this material is now being saved annually and goes into our fertilizer for the production of crops, while approximately $40,000,000 is going to waste.

Approximately 100,000 tons of actual ammonia is going to waste annually. According to averages compiled from carefully planned tests, this would be sufficient to double the yield of all crops in Georgia.

If we should develop our own resources an keep at home billions that we now spend for products from other countries, which products we could ourselves save or produce, we would truly make "America First," commercially and industrially.

Athens, Ga. W. F. DOBBS.

LEAK TESTIMONY IS CONTRADICTED

Connelly's Story at Variance With That of Telegraph Operator—Committee Plans to Resume the Hearings.

New York, February 1.—Contradictory testimony given late today in the "leak" inquiry was regarded by the congressional committee as of such grave nature as to cause the committee to abandon a plan formulated earlier in the day to discontinue the hearings in New York because it was felt that the international situation demanded the presence of the representatives in Washington. It was announced tonight that the inquiry would be continued here tomorrow, at least.

Testimony differs as to whether F. A. Connolly, the Washington broker, and partner of R. W. Bolling, President Wilson's brother-in-law, sent his forecast of the president's recent peace note to E. F. Hutton & Co., New York brokers, over the firm's private wire or by some other route.

Connolly had testified that he sent the information in a message, now missing, between 1:15 and 1:30 o'clock on the afternoon of December 20, over the private wire. Joseph W. Becker, Hutton's operator on the Washington wire, swore today that he was on the wire from its opening to the closing on December 20, and that no such message as Connolly described ever came to him.

Committee Impressed.

Becker's statement stirred the committee to great activity. Impressed, as several committeemen said, with Becker's apparent sincerity, and keen recollection of events of December 20, they insisted on following up his declaration without delay.

Sherman L. Whipple, counsel to the committee, joined in their view. That no doubt may remain as to whether the Connolly message did reach the Hutton office by any of its wires, Whipple declared, every telegraph operator in the employ of the firm should be called at once. Becker suggested that there was another wire, the "southern" circuit, over which the message might have come, but he hardly thought such was the case.

Connally Again Grilled.

Mr. Connolly again submitted to a grilling examination for almost three hours today without deviation from his original declaration that he could not recall the exact source of the "gossip and rumor" on which he based his forecast of the note. He probably will be recalled later.

Like Connolly, W. G. Toomey, chief telegraph operator for the Hutton firm, who, on December 20, sent a "flash" on his own responsibility forecasting the president's note eleven hours before it was released and before he had the Connolly resume, could name positively no one from whom he had obtained the information. He suggested that a young man named "Peterson" in the Hutton office or any one of a half dozen telegraph operators might have told him a note was expected.

The committee tonight is anxiously waiting the appearance of George A. Ellis, Jr., one of the Hutton firm who, according to testimony, drafted the firm's warning from Connolly's message. E. F. Hutton, head of the firm, advised the committee today that Ellis probably would not reach Washington from a Georgia hunting lodge, where he is shooting, before Sunday.

"GOD WILL GRANT US VICTORY," SAYS KAISER

Amsterdam, February 1.—(Via London.)—The Reichs Anzeiger publishes an imperial rescript conveying the German emperor's thanks for birthday congratulations extended to him. It says:

"These numerous manifestations ring out with the overwhelming force of unanimity indignation at the contemptuous rejection of our peace offer and the disgraceful plans of our enemies, which have been disclosed, and the vow to bear joyfully every sacrifice of blood or treasure to preserve the fatherland from the degradation contemplated for it and to enforce with the whole weight of our arms the peace which has been refused.

"Hard times are still before us. The utmost exertion is demanded of every one by the fatherland's need, but the unshakable German people, filled with the consciousness of its strength and with the will to victory, stands ready at the front and at home to defend its just cause to the last man, and I confidently look forward to the issue in this sanguinary conflict for the existence of the empire. God will stand with us and will grant victory to your arms."

BELL SECURED POSITION BECAUSE OF FRIENDSHIPS

Washington, February 1.—(Special.) The appointment of Miller S. Bell, of Milledgeville, as a member of the assay commission under the treasury department, is a striking evidence of how a man's youthful associations and friendships influence him in later life.

Mr. Bell was urged for this position by William J. Harris, vice chairman of the federal trade commission, who reminded Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo that Mr. Bell and his chums had been playmates of the secretary during their boyhood days at Milledgeville several years ago—not so very many, but twenty or thirty, maybe. Although there were a score of applicants for the position, Secretary McAdoo, upon the asurance of Mr. Harris that Mr. Bell was thoroughly qualified for the place, decided to set aside the other aspirants and give the place to his playmate of boyhood.

In addition to being a prominent banker and former president of the Georgia Bankers' association, Mr. Bell has been mayor of Milledgeville and is prominent in the Knights of Pythias and other fraternal organizations, and is a trustee of the Georgia Normal and Industrial school.

PEACHTREE PAVING UP TO COMMITTEE

Street Committee of Council Will Take Action on Repaving Friday — Work Will Be Done if Funds Can Be Found.

The meeting of the council street committee, to be held in the city hall this afternoon at 3 o'clock, is of considerable interest to the citizens of the city and to Peachtree street property owners in particular in view of the fact that some definite plans will be adopted by the committee looking toward the repair or repaving of Peachtree street from Five Points to Ivy street.

The admission by the street committee, all of whose members are united, that the paving of Peachtree street is an urgent necessity at this time, coupled with the agitation for a new pavement made by property owners along the thoroughfare assures recognition of the project by the committee today.

No member of the committee has denied the need for a new pavement. Many of them have openly expressed themselves as favoring the plan and said they would do everything in their power to remedy what is known to be a deplorable condition on the city's main street.

The committee is composed of the following: Councilman Landers, chairman; Councilmen Carpenter, Renfroe, Williamson, Woodall, Dilion, Bell, Mincey, Reynolds and Bailey. The great interest developed in the proposed improvement during the past week will bring out a large number of citizens when the committee holds its meeting.

The request of the Georgia Railway and Power company that they be allowed to repave that portion of Peachtree between their tracks from Five Points to Ivy street with granite cubes will be considered and granted.

The matter has resolved itself into a problem of finding the necessary money for the work. Mayor Candler has placed his approval on the plan and states that if there is any way to find the funds he is sure the work will be done.

It has been suggested by the mayor and by members of council that the pavement outside the tracks from Five Points to Ellis can be repaired for a few hundred dollars, but that the pavement from Ellis on to Ivy street must be entirely relaid. This may be the plan adopted.

It has been further suggested that the city might find sufficient funds for the improvements in the street fund provided in the January sheet or that the county might be persuaded to pay the city's share.

OFFICERS FAIL TO GET CONFESSION FROM GOFF

Thomasville, Ga., February 1.—(Special.)—Louis Goff, the young man charged with a shortage of $700 from the office of the Southern Express company at Pelham, and who was arrested and brought through the country here from Valdosta, was kept here part of today, the officers hoping to gain a confession from him as to the location of some of the missing money.

Goff has been coming to Thomasville frequently of late and it was thought he might have placed part of the money here, but he failed to confess anything. He is said to have stated that he was on his way to Cuba. He is a native of Enterprise, Ala. He was taken from here to Pelham.

VON TARNOW ARRIVES; SURPRISED BY NOTE

New York, February 1.—Count Adam Tarnowski von Tarnow, Austria-Hungary's new ambassador, who arrived today on the Noordam, learned first from newspaper men of the German note.

"The note is a surprise to me," he said.

"Did you know such a note was contemplated?"

"I did not."

The ambassador hastily read the note and then, asserting it was too serious for discussion now protested against further questioning. He said he would go immediately to Washington.

CONVICTED OF PERJURY, SAFFORD GETS 9 MONTHS

New York, February 1.—Franklin D. Safford, convicted of perjury growing out of the "Oliver Osborne" case, was sentenced to nine months in prison by Federal Judge Hand today. Execution of the sentence was stayed until May 1 and Safford was released on bail.

Safford was accused of swearing falsely that James W. Osborne, a prominent attorney, had been the companion of Rae Tanzer on a visit to a New Jersey hotel of which Safford was the clerk. Charles H. Wax testified at the trial that he, masquerading as "Oliver Osborne," was the actual escort of the young woman.

LAND SHOW MOVIE WINNERS NAMED

Misses Thomas, Hobbs, Cannon, Baldwin, Rozetta, Frisch and Rosenthal Atlanta Candidates for Land Show Movie.

Here are the seven young ladies who won places in Atlanta for the great screen contest of the Southeastern Land Show and Midwinter exposition: Miss Mary Thomas, Miss Olive Hobbs, Miss Ethel Cannon, Miss Clara Baldwin, Miss Clara Rozetta, Miss Clara Frisch, Miss Sophie Rosenthal.

MISS MAY THOMAS
Who led the field in the Atlanta movie contest.

Miss Thomas received the highest vote, Miss Hobbs the second highest, and the others came in the order named above.

The vote between Miss Thomas and Miss Hobbs was very close, the former leading the latter by only 936 vote out of nearly thirty thousand polled.

The votes were polled at the Criterion theater under the direction of Manager Patterson. The ballot box closed at 12 o'clock Wednesday night and the counting began Thursday morning. Altogether there were nearly one hundred thousand votes polled.

There were sixteen candidates. Under the rules governing the contest, Atlanta was allowed seven candidates for the final screen contest, which begins at the Auditorium February 5.

There will probably be between fifty and sixty candidates from other cities and towns in Georgia, Alabama, Florida and South Carolina.

All the candidates must report at the Auditorium at 11 o'clock next Monday morning for general instructions. They will be taken over the Auditorium and shown the exhibits. From there they will be entertained at a luncheon at the Ansley hotel. Monday afternoon they will be entertained at the Forsyth matinee.

At 7 o'clock Monday evening they will again meet at the Auditorium to prepare for the motion pictures. At 8 o'clock the taking of the pictures will begin. Each candidate will appear in a film studio on the Auditorium stage with the camera man. In full view of the audience the young ladies will pose in the studio and their pictures be made.

At 8:30 o'clock there will be an informal dance in the armory hall with the candidates as special guests of honor.

The film studio will be handsomely and elaborately fitted up and lighted by four powerful arc lights.

All the motion pictures will be submitted to competent judges who will announce the winners for the prizes.

The prizes offered by the land show are as follows:

First prize, either a fine automobile or a two weeks' trip to a film studio; second prize, a beautiful gold watch; third prize, either a diamond ring or a silver service. In addition to these there will be four state prizes to be contested for by candidates from Georgia, Alabama, Florida and South Carolina. For the state prizes the winners of the grand prizes will not be allowed to contest.

The screen contest is a leading feature of the land show entertainment program. There will be no extra admission for witnessing the contest.

It is the hope of the land show management that among the many candidates for screen honors one at least will be found who will become a film stage star from the southeast.

DENIED THAT PARKS IS WILSON'S CHOICE

Senators Do Not Believe Report, They Assert — If So, Will Fight Confirmation, It Is Announced.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, February 1.—(Special.) The grave foreign situation, which is completely engrossing President Wilson's time, may result in postponing for several weeks a decision the federal judgeship contest in the southern district of Georgia.

Senators Smith and Hardwick gave out interviews today to the effect that they had no intimation that the president contemplated sending Judge Frank Park's name to the senate. Senator Hardwick said that the attorney general's office had informed him there was no basis for this report.

From a source close to both of them, this statement was handed out: "Since neither of the senators credits the report concerning Judge Park's selection by the president for the judgeship, both of them refused today to indicate what would be their attitude in the event of his nomination. There is a strong belief, however, that they would ask the senate to reject the nomination, more especially since the congressman, in his applicancy for the appointment, has not sought the indorsement of either of them."

A number of telegrams reached Washington today from members of the Anti-Saloon league and the Women's Christian Temperance union in Georgia expressing the earnest hope that Judge Park would be named. They referred to his vigorous enforcement of prohibition laws while on the bench.

An interesting feature of the judgeship contest was the president's intense interest in the recital by an admirer of Judge Park's zeal in helping wipe out illiteracy in Georgia. He later opened a night school to teach adult illiterates, including grandfathers and grandmothers, how to read and write. The service was rendered without charge. It revealed a trait of character which greatly impressed the president.

SOME BIRD.

Every public utility company faces public ownership in the end. Hence the fattening of the bird that lays the golden eggs with water. The people are called upon to supply the food that makes the gold. Then when the bird has been worked to death, plucked and killed, the people will be called to pay again for the watered stocks and bonds that have bloated and killed the bird with dropsy. The cartoon above, which was drawn for San Francisco, fits your town or city, if you have there a public utility corporation engaged in picking the pockets of the people.

PIERSON & APEL, NEW TAILORING FIRM

An important change is announced in the tailoring field of Atlanta by the organization of the firm of Pierson & Apel, Inc., 34½ Peachtree street, J. William Apel having purchased an interest in the well-konwn firm formerly known as Pierson & Oxford. The firm retains the same quarters and location, however, as under the former name, 34½ Peachtree street, at Five Points.

"New Cleaner Incomparable For Washing Silks, Flannels, Etc.," Says Prominent Atlanta Woman.

Mrs. W. H. Turman, of Kirkwood, Gives Vivid Recommendation of

MAGICLEAN

The following letter is too good to keep from the public:

"The Magiclean Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Gentlemen: It gives me pleasure to tell you my experience with your soap.

"IT IS INCOMPARABLE FOR WASHING SILKS, FLANNELS, etc.

"I wear altogether the soft silk waists and underwear, and these articles I always wash myself, and I find when using your soap that they keep the color beautifully, and it is indeed difficult to tell that they have been washed at all.

"In washing my children's flannels, MAGICLEAN IS INVALUABLE, as it keeps the flannels nice and soft, just like brand-new, and also keeps them from shrinking. I see to it, of course, that the water is the same temperature, and slightly warm. Wishing you much success, I remain, respectfully yours,

"MRS. W. H. TURMAN.

"Kirkwood, Ga."

Every woman who has silks or flannels or delicate materials of any kind to wash—and that is every woman in Atlanta—will thank Mrs. Turman for pointing them to this "incomparable cleaner."

And the beauty of it is, Magiclean positively will not irritate the softest skin in the handling—to say nothing of not injuring fine fabrics.

DECLINES APPOINTMENT.

Col. W. M. Crumley Declines Commander's Post, U. C. V.

Macon, Ga., February 1.—(Special.)—The Georgia division, U. C. V., is still without a commender, Col. W. M. Crumley, of Atlanta, who was appointed by Gen. John H. Hickman, of the army of Tennessee, to fill the vacancy, having notified Adjutant Bridges Smith, of Macon, that he cannot accept the appointment. Colonel Crumley was named some time ago but was on a fishing trip in Florida and did not know he had been selected until his return to Atlanta a day or two ago.

The fact that he has refused to accept the appointment leaves the office in the hands of the adjutant general, who will serve until a successor is named and qualifies.

"BOOTS" ROGERS' TRIAL IS SET FOR WEDNESDAY

Represented by Governor-elect Hugh M. Dorsey, Boots Rogers, the taxicab operator and former county policeman, will be put on trial for highway robbery before Judge Ben Hill next Wednesday.

Solicitor General John A. Boykin was busy yesterday making preparations for the trial, conferring with witnesses and consulting his aides. The case is expected to develop startling angles.

Despite the fact that the prosecution will submit witnesses who say they identify Rogers, one of whom is J. Boykin, the man who was robbed of $1,500 near Hapeville in broad daylight by men who sandbagged him, the defense will submit testimony of eyewitnesses to absolve the accused, and will also seek to establish an alibi for him.

It was learned from a sixth man in the cage from which the men escaped that they had succeeded in smuggling some hack saws to the quarters. While in the cage immediately after supper and before they were to be carried to their cells for the night, they succeeded in making their escapes.

Sheriff Swanson and Deputy Hicks, with several special officers, are scouring the town it being thought that the five men are still in this vicinity.

Macon Barely Missed By Sudden Tornado Which Wrecks Buildings

Macon, Ga., February 1.—(Special.)—A tornado which passed northwest of Macon early today, blew over a number of buildings, sent chimneys crashing from the tops of houses, lifted a heavy concrete silo from its fastenings and hurled it through space for a considerable distance and did damage to the extent of several thousand dollars.

J. W. Matthews, a dairyman, was the heaviest loser. The large barn on his place was blown down and about twenty head of live stock imprisoned in the wrecked structure, though they were later released, none of them being seriously hurt. A milk wagon, with two horses hitched to it, was standing at the gate. The wind blew the wagon loose from the horses and demolished it.

Debris from the Matthews place struck the home of J. F. Malone, taking off both the front and back porches and otherwise damaging the house. Fences in the neighborhood were all leveled to the ground.

The path of the tornado was only a few hundred yards wide and it did not touch Macon proper.

Coffee.

New York, February 1.—While the German blockade announcement caused great nervousness and uncertainty in the market for coffee futures and led to active evening-up of old commitments, fluctuations were not particularly violent. The opening was 15 to 15 points lower under liquidation and after a slight rally during the middle of the day, prices weakened again under continued selling for long account and a little pressure from trade sources. May sold off to 8.50 and September to 8.70, or about 18 to 19 points net lower, and the market closed at a net loss of 15 to 18 points. There was some European buying early, but most of the demand was attributed to covering, and sentiment was unsettled during the entire day, owing to nervousness over diplomatic or shipping conditions, and an impression that the latest German policy would further restrict Brazilian exports to Europe. Sales were estimated at 126,500 bags.

Spot unsettled; Rio sevens, 10c; Santos fours, 10½c. No fresh offers were reported here from Brazil owing to the unsettled ocean freight situation.

The official cables reported an advance of 75 reis at Rio. Santos spots were unchanged and futures unchanged to 25 reis higher. Rio reported a clearance of 13,000 bags for New York. Brazilian port receipts, 17,000; Jundiahy, 10,000.

New York, February 1.—The announcement of the German blockade caused the biggest break in the history of the cotton trade at the opening of the cotton market here this morning. May contracts sold off to 12.50, a new low record for the season and more than $25 per bale under the closing price of last night before the call was completed. Almost as sudden a rally followed to 17.25 for that delivery, but sentiment was evidently demoralized and later fluctuations were violent. May closed at 15.14, a little better than midway between the extremes of the morning, and the general list closed feverish at a net decline of 211 to 254 points.

The report of Germany's new naval policy came as an absolute surprise to the trade. The market yesterday had advanced on a more optimistic view of peace prospects and the abrupt change from cheerfulness over the outlook to the various apprehensions inspired by the blockade statement brought in selling orders from all directions.

At the start, indeed, it seemed as though every one wanted to sell at once. The opening was only 36 points lower on February, an inactive month, but 261 to 373 points below last night's closing figures on other deliveries. At the lowest prices reached on the call, present crop deliveries which contained the largest speculative interest sold 274 to 516 points net lower, with March touching 13.75 and July 13.90. New crop months sold 235 to 266 points lower with October touching the 14-cent level.

The quick rally which followed carried March and July up to the 17-cent level, a recovery of about 300 to 475 points, but this bulge met heavy selling orders from outside sources. Liverpool and trade interests were good buyers and the volume of business gradually tapered off, but various rumors of diplomatic, or shipping developments, kept the market in a perfect turmoil of excitement. Frequently there were fluctuations of from 15 to 25 points between sales, but prices held between nearly the early extremes and the close was at a recovery of about 119 to 261 points on old crop and 24 to 55 points on new crop months, as compared with the low level of the morning. The few wires received here from the south said that spot holders had withdrawn offerings and heavy southern selling was attributed chiefly to liquidation.

Cotton, spot, quiet; middling uplands 14.75; sales, none.

New Orleans Down $21.75 Per Bale.

New Orleans, February 1.—The cotton market here staggered today under the heaviest and most unexpected blow it ever received. Germany's announcement that she immediately would enter into a campaign of unrestricted naval warfare, causing the fear that this country would be drawn into war and making an already complicated cotton export situation all the more difficult, resulted in a rush to sell on the part of holders of long contracts, which sent prices down for the widest break in the history of the market. In the first few minutes of trading the active months lost 373 to 435 points, or $18.50 to $21.75 a bale.

Before the call, cotton brokers and traders were prepared for wide declines, but they were not prepared for the extent of the losses. The first sale in March was at a loss of 113 points, but the weakness increased every minute, and when May was reached on the call its first transaction was at a loss of 324 points. Soon after the call May sold at 13 cents as compared with 17.24 on the close yesterday. July also traded at 13 cents, compared to 17.35 on yesterday's close. At this stage the market was about $40 a bale down from the highest level attained this season.

A strong recovery followed the first break, on which prices shot upward 295 to 320 points from the bottom, but the reaction was not well maintained. The market became nervous and unsettled, with rapid and very wide fluctuations. Considering everything, the tone was remarkably quiet late in the morning, but in the afternoon trading was more active, and again was at the expense of values. At the highest levels of the day the most active months were still at a net loss of 78 to 115 points. The close was at a net loss of 235 to 280 points.

Selling from the middle of the session was stimulated by reports of the scuttling of a German interned ship at Charleston, and by the report that a Dutch ship had been sunk.

Sugar.

New York, February 1.—The local market for raw sugar was comparatively quiet today with refiners, practically out of the market, owing to the labor difficulties, poor demand for refined and fears that the new German blockade would interfere with the exports of refined sugar. The market, however, maintained a pretty steady undertone with operators purchasing about 20,000 bags of Cubas for March shipment and 10,000 for February shipment at 3⅝c, cost and freight, equal to 4.89 for centrifugal, with further offerings at the same level at the close. Final prices were 3¾c for Cubas, cost and freight, equal to 4.89 for centrifugal and 4.02 for molasses.

In refined the market was unsettled by the German note and the continued labor difficulties at some of the leading refineries. Prices were unchanged at 6.75 for fine granulated, but business was very light.

Fluctuations in sugar futures were not nearly as violent as in some of the other commodity markets, but the undertone was unsettled by the international crisis, which promoted considerable liquidation by Wall street and commission houses, with final prices 3 to 10 points net lower. Sales were 18,350 tons.

Dry Goods.

New York, February 1.—Cotton goods markets were at a standstill today. There was little or no trading in yarns on account of the break in cotton. Buyers preferred to remain quiet during the international uncertainty and sellers have been sufficiently active to enable them now to refrain from offering goods. Buyers of general dry goods are continuing their purchases in a more careful way for future delivery.

PROFESSIONAL VIEWS ON COTTON SITUATION

New York, February 1.—(Special.)—Germany's note to the United States which yesterday was expected to be conciliatory in tone and which caused the rally in yesterday's cotton market, proved to be the reverse. The central powers foreswore all previous pledges and announced a resumption of ruthless submarine warfare to date from today. Cotton, wheat, stocks and all other commodities had a sensational collapse at the opening of the various markets. The outcome of the present situation is conjectural. It would seem, however, as if the tension had reached the breaking point and that an actual violation of the Sussex agreement or further loss of American life would lead to severance of diplomatic relations with Germany and her allies, if not actual declaration of war by the United States. Predictions as to what cotton may do under existing conditions are worthless. It is a market to watch rather than in which to act. Wild fluctuations are probable. Politics will dominate the course of prices in all markets.

CHAS. FAIRCHILD & CO.

New York, February 1.—(Special.)—Germany's note regarding her future use of the submarine, being fraught with fresh political complications involving this country, induced heavy liquidation of cotton in this market today. It was not until prices reached their lowest level that buying set in, and this came principally from Liverpool and domestic spinners. The market will continue nervous for a time, but cotton, we think, should be bought on declines.

BOND, M'ENANY & CO.

New York, February 1.—(Special.)—The cotton market closed 250 points lower than yesterday. The reason is, of course, the announced policy of Germany to follow a ruthless submarine warfare. The extreme decline from yesterday's closing figures amounted to 363 points in March, 374 points in July, 266 points in October and 181 points in December. The May option, however, furnished the real sensation by declining 516 points during the opening call, that month selling as low as 12.50. The reason of the particular weakness in May was due to the fact that there was a very large long interest in contracts in that particular month, held by people outside the cotton trade and peremptory orders to liquidate were evidently given at the opening and it was hard to find buyers except at tremendous concessions. Shorts were the best buyers at the opening call and the market is pretty well cleaned up of such interest for the minute. This record decline of history is not the proper measure of the market. We have contended for some time that the fate of prices of the future hinges on the value of the next crop and nothing that has ever occurred in history to make or mar the acreage in cotton like the strained relations which will inevitably follow between the United States and Germany. If we remain insistent upon our previous attitude there is nothing left except to break relations with Germany and war will result. If we do not remain insistent our exports will be seriously interfered with and perhaps thousands of bales "lost at sea." In either of these events it occurs to us that the American farmer will curtail cotton and raise food crops. His market for his staple will look to be curtailed to the manufacturing ability of his own country until peace is assured. If peace arrives before planting time the answer will be one thing; if it arrives after June 1 it will be quite different. If by any chance the south could be induced to plant less than 30,000,000 acres the coming season and after the crop was started then peace be found then perhaps, every dream of high prices would follow. The next few months may shape the future destiny of the cotton market.

RENSKORF, LYON & Co.

New York, February 1.—(Special.)—At the opening of the local cotton market there was very heavy selling by commission houses who were liquidating large lines of contracts that were purchased the past few weeks on better spot news and the idea that the German note would leave the way open for further peace discussions. But instead of being conciliatory, the German government has practically declared war on all neutral nations, as they state they will pursue ruthless warfare and sink all vessels regardless of the flag they fly. After the drastic break at the opening there was heavy buying by Liverpool and spot interests, but as soon as these orders had been filled the market sold off quickly. We advise extreme caution in making commitments and opinions are useless until the international situation is more settled.

J. W. JAY & CO.

New York, February 1.—(Special.)—The announcement of the German submarine plans transferred the world's war to the cotton market this morning and due to an absolute lack of buying in a market in which everyone wanted to sell rapidly caused a condition of panic. It is felt that the situation confronting the United States is very grave. Should Germany be able to enforce a blockade it would so effect our exports that the balance of this crop to a large extent would have to be carried and financed in this country. The possibility of our being forced into the conflict are also very present. Under ordinary conditions we would most strongly advise the purchase of cotton, but at the present writing the situation is so involved that our advice is to keep out of the market on both sides. The blockade is naturally a bullish feature from the Liverpool standpoint and therefore Liverpool quotations will not guide our market for the present. Liverpool is due 34½ points on the lower contracts. May on the market behaved pretty well in spite of the action of other markets and buying was largely from trade sources on good declines. We continue to feel that oil is a purchase.

JOHNSTON, STORM & CO.

New York, February 1.—(Special.)—The news of the German note, which appeared in this morning's paper caused a wild break in cotton this morning, heavy western liquidation appearing on the opening, in such volume as to swamp the trade demand. The rather moderate short interest existing in the market covered freely and there was a demand from Liverpool, undoing arbitrage transactions, which brought about a quick recovery from the opening break. The market, however, remained very nervous and excited throughout the day, free selling from the south causing another decline, so that final prices were some 2½ cents per pound below the close of yesterday. The market should naturally steady after such a violent decline, but the underlying cause of the break, namely the inability at least temporarily to export cotton and cotton goods remains, and the feeling of the local trade tonight is most uncertain as to the final effect upon values. The situation is complicated by the question of cotton goods at high prices against which great mills have bought cotton freely. We do not believe that at the moment, in the midst of the excitement, the trade can fully estimate the general situation. We expect, therefore, that the market will continue nervous and unsettled, while merchandise in the cotton trade generally adjust their affairs through the situation which has been so suddenly created.

Augusta, Ga., February 1.—The Augusta cotton exchange officially suspended quotations at 10:15 a. m. There was no trading on the first call or at any time. The Augusta exchange, by wire, requested that the futures markets at New Orleans and New York be closed during the international crisis.

Savannah, Ga., February 1.—The Savannah cotton exchange today declined to concur in the suggestion of the Augusta cotton exchange that no more spot cotton quotations be posted until after the present excitement is over. It was suggested to the Augusta exchange that the thing to stop was the trading in futures in New York and New Orleans.

Memphis, Tenn., February 1.—The Memphis cotton exchange today suspended spot quotations and factors here announced that no effort would be made to trade in the staple under existing conditions. The only business reported today was a sale of 750 bales, made after the market closed yesterday.

JANUARY BUSINESS REPORTED AS GOOD

Report of Business Conditions by Chairman Wellborn, of Local Federal Bank.

Trade conditions were very satisfactory during the month of January. Manufacturers have orders booked so far in advance; and, added to this the splendid financial outcome of agricultural operations, there appears little prospect of experiencing the usual midwinter dullness.

Bank deposits continue on the increase, a condition that is not confined to any particular financial center, but the result of returns from the large value of domestic and foreign business, the steadying influence of better interest rates is now being felt by the banks and there is less cause for complaint than prevailed some time ago. The Heard National Bank of Jacksonville, Fla., was closed on January 16 by order of its directors. It is stated that depositors will ultimately be paid in full and that losses will fall principally upon stockholders.

As estimated by the United States department of agriculture, as of December 1, 1916, the total value of all crops (which does not include live stock products) for 1915 and 1916 for the states in the sixth district, was as follows:

	1916	1915.
Alabama	$158,649,000	$158,260,000
Florida	60,495,000	43,122,000
Georgia	345,924,000	234,147,000
Louisiana	182,845,000	112,940,000
Mississippi	190,674,000	130,321,000
Tennessee	220,888,000	146,977,000

Most States Show Gains.

As indicated, all these states show heavy gains with the exception of Alabama, where, notwithstanding the heavy floods and boll weevil, the alue of the 1916 crops is slightly more than the 1915 crops.

Reports from Florida put the estimate of the season's fruit crops at a slightly larger output than the previous season. The rice crop of the district is estimated to be worth $11,000,000, more than that of 1915. The lumber trade has made considerable recovery from the holiday quietness. Hardwoods are advancing in price, the demand is good and movement active. Naval stores remain steady, demand good and prices slightly advanced.

In the jobbing dry goods market the jobbers are beginning to make large shipments of spring merchandise. Salesmen are active with all spring and summer lines and report liberal orders.

Flour Going Up.

Flour business has been fairly active and mills anticipate a constant, steady demand the balance of the season, based on the fact that owing to high prices southern flour dealers are carrying minimum stocks and order frequently and constantly, rather than on a speculative basis. Higher-priced flour is predicted.

The demand for tobacco has been exceedingly strong, and it is estimated that 90 per cent of the crop has been sold, the prices the highest since 1897. The percentage of leaf tobacco is much larger than in usual crops, being probably 75 per cent leaf. Present prices are from 75 per cent to 100 per cent higher than quotations of eighteen months ago.

The mining industry in the Birmingham district is now regarded as satisfactory by the operators. The car shortage is greatly improved. Consumers are in the market for renewal of contracts that expire in the main on July 1, the present period. There is a great demand for all miners and mine laborers. There is still some laborers leaving the district for northern labor markets. Prospects for profits in the coal industry are better than for many years.

FRENZIED TRADING IN STOCK MARKET

German Announcement Causes All-Around Shrinkage in Quoted Values. Temporary Rallies Produce More Liquidation.

New York, February 1.—The stock market was put to another supreme test of its endurance today, Germany's unexpected announcement of her intention to renew submarine operations on a broader and more unrestricted scale causing an all-around shrinkage of quoted values.

Selling was at its height in the first hour, when the trading was of frenzied character and lowest prices were made. Rallies of 1 to 5 points, with as much as 10 for Utah Copper, were registered before midday, but recurrent liquidation took place after 2 o'clock, driving prices back to or near initial minimums.

The movement lacked in the enormous individual offerings of last December's feverish markets. Except for United States Steel and some of the metals, declines, while extensive in the aggregate, were on an orderly basis after the early outburst, which probably represented involuntary unloading of margined or speculative accounts.

A large proportion of the day's offerings was reported to have come from out-of-town points. The further selling of the final hour derived impetus from rumors that severance of diplomatic relations with Germany would be announced later in the day.

With few exceptions, every stock in the active list declined measurably under the low prices of last month, including United States Steel, which fell to 99 and closed at 102 3-4, a net loss of 9 1-4 points on sales approximating 600,000 shares, or about 30 per cent of the total operations of 2,100,000 shares.

Bethlehem Steel broke 36 points and rallied 10, shippings lost 10 to 18, making only feeble rallies, and rails at gross recessions of 3 to 7 points closed mostly at lowest levels.

Little attention was paid to the weakness of foreign exchange, with market concessions in rates on Berlin and Vienna and a new low record for lires, or Italian remittances.

Virtually every international bond of the many issues resulting from the war sold at lowest prices since their flotation in this market, Paris 6s breaking 2 3-4 points, with America foreign security 5s down 1 3-8.

Domestic bonds were heavy to weak, speculative rails falling abruptly. Total sales of bonds (par value) aggregated $6,550,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Season's Best Prep Game

BEST PREP GAME OF YEAR TODAY

Tech High and Boys' High, League Leaders, to Meet. Two Other Games Scheduled for the Day, Also.

By Clark Foreman.

This afternoon on the Wesley Memorial floor the big game of the Prep Basketball league will be pulled off when the fast Tech High five locks horns with the strong Boys' High quintet.

"Gibbie" Fraser, the fine forward of the Smithies, will not be able to play this game on account of a broken rib which he sustained in a recent game, but they still think they are going to win.

"Skinny" Hubert, the captain of the Boys' High team and the shining star of the Prep league, will be there with his whole team. Coach Fancher still has hope for a victory, notwithstanding the defeat by Marist and the bad playing in the Fulton High game.

The regular admission fee of 15 cents will be charged and a large crowd is expected.

Fulton High will play Commercial High at the Auditorium, and G. M. A. will go against Marist on the latter's court in the other games of the day.

We make no extra charge for calls at East Point, College Park, Hapeville or Decatur.

DECATUR TEAM WINS FROM CENTRAL BAPTIST

The Decatur Athletic club basketball team won over the Central Baptist team with a score of 50 to 20, in a hotly-contested game at Decatur Thursday evening. The stars for Decatur were Stanley and Donnell, while those starring for Central Baptist were Jarrett and Gray. The time of halves was 20 minutes. Smith, of the University of Virginia, acted as referee

IF THE PLANS of the organizers are perfected in organizing the south Georgia league, composed of the cities of Americus, Albany, Cordele, Waycross, Valdosta and Moultrie, the most compact circuit in organized baseball should result, and if the organizers can secure for its head an experienced baseball man, who will conduct the league's affairs forcibly and economically its first season, the South Georgia league would then be an assured fact for several seasons. The compactness of the Georgia-Alabama league and its business-like methods have been the two main causes of its continued existence.

FLOORWALKER FOR BIG DEPARTMENT STORE TESTIFIES

"I Know Now Why So Many People Are Praising Tanlac," Says H. B. Coker. Has Gained 19 Pounds.

"I don't believe there's a medicine in the world that will make you feel as well and strong all over as Tanlac does. At least if there is one, I have never found it," said H. B. Coker, the popular florwalker at D. B. Loveman's big department store in Chattanooga, Tenn., a few days ago.

"I have been in general bad health for some time," continued Mr. Coker. "I was all run-down and didn't have enough energy to walk from one end of the store to another, and I suffered terribly with my stomach. I couldn't digest even the lightest kinds of foods and most everything I tried to eat just lay on my stomach like a lump of hot lead, and gas would form and cause me to suffer so I just felt like giving up. I began to get weaker every day and went down in weight from one hundred and sixty to one hundred and thirty-nine pounds and just had to force myself to go to the store every morning.

"I had read so much about Tanlac and knew of so many people who had been benefited by it when nothing else seemed to do them any good that I decided to try it myself, and now, after taking four bottles, I am as well and happy as I ever was in my life. I now weigh one hundred and fifty-eight pounds—an actual gain of nineteen pounds, and my appetite is so fine that I eat almost anything in sight and nothing hurts me in the slightest. My general health has improved wonderfully, and I just feel like a new man all over. I am full of energy all day and get the old-time pleasure out of my work and I've found out why it is so many people endorse Tanlac, and I'm glad to add my name to that list."

CENTRAL OF GEORGIA RY.

THE RIGHT WAY

WHIFFS

For the Title.

GEORGIA and the Atlanta Athletic club will battle at Athens tomorrow night for the basketball championship of the south, with issue one of considerable doubt. On paper the Red and Black has the edge, but the Atlanta Athletic club five has never been fully extended this season and their real strength has not been developed. A record for basketfall crowds is certain to be established in Athens Saturday and in Atlanta on the return date later in the season.

Losing Patience.

FRIEND PUBLIC has just about had its patience exhausted by the continuous quibbling by baseball magnates and the players. This "strike" talk is not adding any to the confidence of the and if Dave Fultz orders the strike he will make the most monumental blunder of his career. The public, already offended, will have little faith in anything connected with baseball and the players will be the ones to suffer from the lack of confidence by the patrons, more than will the club owners. It's a thought worth considering. Friend Public holds the whip hand and he is going to use it.

How Long? How Long?

ATLANTA fans are beginning to wonder whether they will have a baseball team this year or not. Mogul Frank better hasten to these parts and impart to the "dope"-hungry public some information pertaining to the Crackers and their 1917 personnel, or it will be with a matter of considerable indifference that the fan colony will read the belated "dope" when it does arrive. There is more "dope" going the rounds in the other cities in the league in one day, than there has been dispensed in Atlanta in a month, and the scribes are not at fault, either.

A Keen Loss.

ANNOUNCEMENT recently that Fred Graff had accepted terms with the Chattanooga Lookouts, probably means that the deal between the Crackers and the Lookouts for the best third-sacker in the league has fallen through. If this be the case, and the silence from local headquarters prevents confirmation, then there will be one hole in the local infield that we had hopes would be permanently plugged that must be filled.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY

The Southeastern Land show opened in a blaze of glory for the southeast last night at the Auditorium-Armory. Real estate men consider this show an epic in the history of farm land development in this section. The unequaled advantages of the southeast are to be exploited to visitors from every farming section of the nation, as well as to investors in farm lands from the financial centers of the nation.

Real estate men predict that the result of this display of the south's agricultural wealth will be the eventual investment of millions of capital in farms in the southeast, and the bringing to this section of thrifty and industrious farmers from other great farm centers of the nation.

From a real estate point of view the opening night of the land show was indicative of its success.

February Building Begins Active.

February building began with a rush Thursday morning, and every indication is that February will be a banner month as was January.

Mrs. B. H. Barr took a permit to build a two-story, brick veneer apartment house on Durant place, to cost $14,000. There will be four spaces. M. G. Norris, who has the contract to build the 8-sey apartments in West End, also has the contract for this work.

W. C. Harper took a permit to build four frame residences at Nos. 458-66 Williams street, the aggregate cost to be $6,500.

A $4,000 permit was issued for erection of a store building at the corner of North avenue and the Boulevard.

Important Meeting at Decatur.

On next Monday night, in the superior court room in Decatur, there will be held a very important meeting of real estate owners, agents and developers.

The purpose of this meeting is to plan for a co-operative effort to improve real estate conditions in Decatur and other parts of DeKalb county. For some months past real estate conditions in this section have been steadily improving. A number of important sales have been made of all classes of real estate, residence and business property in Decatur, and of farm lands throughout the county. The largest real estate owners and some of the strongest real estate developers of this section will take part in this meeting.

For Decatur a home building campaign will be started at once for the purpose of encouraging young men to start at once plans for acquiring homes of their own, and at this meeting plans also will be considered for an old-fashioned campaign of advertising "Decatur as the Ideal Residence Town," and for exploiting the advantages of DeKalb county as the best county in Georgia for trucking, dairying, canneries and general farming.

Charles D. McKinney, president of the Decatur Board of Trade, will preside at this meeting, and it is understood that this progressive commercial body will be strongly behind this movement.

The board of trade has general charge of the DeKalb county booth at the Southeastern Land show, and many of its members will give a part of their time to the management of the booth, of which R. F. Smith will have the direct management, assisted by the board of trade committee, of which W. H. S. Hamilton is chairman.

FORTIFICATION BILL IS PASSED BY SENATE

Washington, February 1.—After brief discussion today the senate passed the fortifications appropriation bill carrying $51,000,000 for coast defenses.

The bill passed the house Monday and is the first of the big national defense bills to pass both houses at this session. The only queries that arose today were whether the amount would be adequate in view of the alarming international situation created by the German declaration for ruthless submarine warfare.

W. & A. LEASE NEARS ITS FINAL STAGE

Situation Materially Cleared Up at Commission's Session on Thursday, and Closing Probably Will Come This Week.

Every effort is being made to bring the negotiations for the lease of the Western and Atlantic railroad to the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad, present lessee, to a close at the present meeting of the Western and Atlantic commission. Indications are that there negotiations are, in fact, approaching the final stage where a definite decision will be forthcoming either in favor of closing the lease or declining the bid.

The Western and Atlantic railroad commission has now been in session for two days conferring with officials of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad, and will be in session again Friday and likely also on Saturday.

The commission was in session Thursday morning for about two hours, but adjourned Thursday afternoon until Friday morning at 11 o'clock, because it was necessary for Commissioner G. Gunby Jordan to go to Columbus on business. He is expected back for the session at 11 o'clock Friday morning.

Just what progress has been made toward the close of negotiations, in the absolute absence of any public discussion of the negotiations by either side interested, but there is no question that the situation was very materially cleared up at the session of Thursday morning. There was a noticeable optimism displayed upon both sides of the question.

Several Points to be Settled.

It is understood that the question of the exact monthly rental to be paid has not yet been definitely settled, pending the settlement of several other points of difference which may affect the figure one way or another.

It is understood to have been settled that the lessee will not be required to pay taxes on the Western and Atlantic railroad in the counties through which the road runs.

It is understood that the Atlanta plaza plan has not yet been definitely settled between the commission and the bidder, although it is not regarded as likely that the clause asked by the Atlanta Plaza commission will be inserted in the lease contract, if the contract is closed.

Taking the indications as a whole and the real situation, insofar as it is possible to judge what it is without really definite information, there is every reason to believe that the Western and Atlantic commission is much more pleased with the prospects of a satisfactory and advantageous disposition of the state's railroad property now than it has ever been before since the lease negotiations first began.

Want Camp on W. & A.

Following the request of the Marietta Chamber of Commerce, the Western and Atlantic railroad commission has adopted a resolution which expresses its interest in having an army training camp located on the line of the Western and Atlantic railroad.

The resolution is as follows:

The commission views with interest and pleasure the location of a military camp of the United States, or of any plant or project on the line of the Western and Atlantic railroad which may increase its importance or be of value to the state of Georgia.

"DIM-A-LITE"

The object of this contrivance was not to save expense, yet it consumes from 30% to 80% less current than other lamps of equal size.
The Dim-a-Lite has five changes of illumination from "full" to "out," and is very useful in the hall during the evening as a protection against burglars, and a "pilot light" for late home-comers.
Also, it is ideal for the living room—bedroom—bath room—sick room—nursery or porch light.
Never burns out. Fits any socket. Saves Current.
Every home should be provided with Dim-a-Lites.

REVENUE BILL PASSED BY VOTE OF 211 TO 196

Washington, February 1.—The administration revenue bill, framed to meet the prospective treasury deficit next year, was passed by the house late today by a vote of 211 to 196. It now goes to the senate, where it will be taken up in a few days.

Republicans, whose attacks on the bill and demands for a return to higher tariff rates had featured the debate, voted solidly against the measure and were joined by the progressives. Representative London of New York, the socialist, and four democrats, Representative Caldwell of New York, Callaway, Texas, and Doughton and Page of North Carolina. Voting with the democratic majority were Representatives Kent, California, independent, and Randall, California, prohibitionist.

The bill is designed to raise about $248,000,000 to meet extraordinary military and naval expenses through increased inheritance taxes and a tax of 8 per cent on net incomes on co-partnerships and corporations in excess of an exempted $5,000 and 8 per cent profit on investment. It also authorized bond issues aggregating $100,000,000 to cover the purchase of the Danish West Indies, Alaskan railroad expenditures and other permanent investments.

Community Parks
More and more the value of small parks and playgrounds is appreciated. In most cities land near the parks is appropriated by the millionaire class.
Yet in Atlanta you can buy a nice building lot right at a community park for $650, on easy terms. This is a marked-down price, and the supply is limited. It makes possible the ownership of a home at a moderate cost.
Call for our printed plat showing this subdivision and the owners of every lot therein.

What About the Details?
You know the general policies of your business, but what do you know about the details?
It is next to an impossibility for any man to carry both; he must leave the details to subordinates and assistants. It is the duty and province of the expert accountant to check up the details and put them before you in concrete form. An audit insures you as to attention to detail while you are directing the general policy.
